Textbook Of Palliative Medicine And Supportive Care Second Edition:

Textbook of Palliative Medicine and Supportive Care Eduardo Bruera,Irene Higginson,Charles F. von Gunten,Tatsuya Morita,2015-01-15 the thoroughness of the text has to be admired It is an excellent starting point for students of palliative care which makes an important contribution to any library British Journal of Hospital Medicine covers a plethora of topics ranging from the development of palliative medicine in different countries to clinical topics and bioethics an Oxford American Handbook of Hospice and Palliative Medicine and Supportive Care Sriram Yennurajalingam,Eduardo Bruera,2016-03-14 The Oxford American Handbook of Hospice and Palliative Medicine and Supportive Care provides succinct evidence based topically focused content on the day to day management of patients requiring palliative and hospice care The text is supplemented by extensive tables algorithms and clinical pearls Palliative Care for Chronic Cancer Patients in the Community Michael Silbermann,2020-10-29 The new global cancer data suggests that the global burden has risen to 18.1 million new cases per year and 9.6 million cancer deaths per year A number of factors appear to be driving this increase in particular a growing and aging global population and an increase of exposure to cancer risk factors linked to social and economic development For rapidly growing economies the data suggests a shift from poverty or infection related cancers to those associated with lifestyles more typical in industrialized countries There is still large geographical diversity in cancer occurrence and variations in the magnitude and profile of the disease between and within world regions There are specific types of cancer that dominate globally lung female breast and colorectal cancer and the regional variations in common cancer types signal the extent to which societal economic and lifestyle changes interplay to differentially impact on the profile of this most complex group of diseases Unfortunately despite advances in cancer care a significant proportion of patients at home experience sub optimal outcomes Barriers to successful treatment outcomes include but are not limited to access to oncologists in the primary health centers non adherence lack of experienced oncology and palliative care nurses in the community inadequate monitoring and the lack of training of family and pediatric physicians Telemedicine approaches including telephone triage education telemonitoring teleconsultation and status tracking through mobile applications have shown promise in further improving outcomes in particular for chronic cancer patients following their hospitalization Lessons can be learned from existing hospices in North America the United Kingdom Australia Centers of Excellence in African Uganda and modern community services in India Kerala An important goal of this book is to describe and encourage professionals to develop new community programs in palliative care which include training and empowering physicians and nurses in the community on the principles of palliative care The Middle East Cancer Consortium MECC together with the American Society of Clinical Oncology ASCO and the American Oncology Nursing Society ONS have conducted multiple courses ranging from basic palliative care to more specialized training in palliative care for multiple nationalities in Europe Asia and Africa Our experience clearly indicates that to promote such activities one needs strong leadership and confirmed political will to support the endeavor The new book will emphasize the importance of having a core of multiple stakeholders including community leaders government NGOs and media to be actively involved in advocating for the cause and generating public awareness This text will provide the reader with a comprehensive understanding of the outside of the hospital treatment of cancer patients by medical paramedical and volunteer personnel In doing so this text will encourage the creation of new palliative care services improving upon the existing ones and stimulate further research in this field Part 1 of the text will begin with an overview of the current state of affairs of services provided to cancer patients while being cared for by primary health centers It will also review the current literature regarding medical and psychological based therapy options in the community for cancer patients at different stages of their disease Part 2 will address the unique role of the community nurse within the framework of the multidisciplinary team treating the patient in the attempt to provide optimal evaluation and care in very challenging situations such as with terminal patients Part 3 will provide insightful models of this new discipline and serve as a valuable resource for physicians nurses social workers and others involved in the care of cancer patients The book will take a multidisciplinary approach integrating clinical and environmental data for practical management to enhance the efficacy of treatment while relieving suffering Part 4 will also discuss the application of modern technological approaches to track symptoms quality of life diet mobility duration of sleep and medication use including pain killers in chronic cancer patients in the community Part 5 of the book will also be devoted to modes of developing a collaborative program between governmental and non governmental organization sectors This includes volunteer workers in close collaboration with medical professionals for providing emotional and spiritual support nursing care nutritional support and empowering family caregivers Such a model makes palliative care in the community a people s movement thus transferring part of the responsibility and ownership to the community

Textbook of Palliative Medicine Eduardo Bruera,Irene Higginson,Charles F von Gunten,2009-01-30 Textbook of Palliative Medicine provides an alternative truly international approach to this rapidly growing specialty This textbook fills a niche with its evidence based multi professional approach and global perspective ensured by the international team of editors and contributing authors In the absence of an international curriculum for the study of palliative medicine this textbook provides essential guidance for those both embarking upon a career in palliative medicine or already established in the field and the structure and content have been constructed very much with this in mind With an emphasis on providing a service anywhere in the world including the important issue of palliative care in the developing nations Textbook of Palliative Medicine offers a genuine alternative to the narrative approach of its competitors and is an ideal complement to them It is essential reading for all palliative care physicians in training and in practice as well as palliative care nurses and other health professionals in the palliative care team

Comprehensive Geriatric Oncology, Second Edition Lodovico Balducci,William B. Ershler,Gary H. Lyman,Martine Extermann,2004-11-26 The prevention and treatment of cancer in older patients requires an individualized approach as age causes unpredictable results from patient to patient Completely revised and updated the Second Edition of Comprehensive Geriatric Oncology enables clinicians to choose the best possible cancer care Highlighting newly emerging issues in geriatric oncology it helps physicians promote cancer prevention Like its groundbreaking bestselling predecessor this new edition exhaustively reviews the biology of cancer and aging epidemiologic trends and clinical trials that concern cancer prevention and treatment in the elderly New chapters contain material on topics such as assessment fragility symptom management and emergencies and studies the effectiveness of training programs in geriatric oncology The book addresses issues of healthcare delivery including cost and evaluation of utility and outcome suggests new research approaches reviews existing guidelines for the prevention and treatment of cancer in the elderly and more Providing a frame of reference for the ongoing dialogue in the field of geriatric oncology this is a major reference work for basic population and clinical scientists interested in the issue and for practices ministering to older patients

Supportive Care in Respiratory Disease Sam Ahmedzai, Martin F. Muers, 2005

Respiratory symptoms such as breathlessness and cough are common in patients with advancing and incurable disease. For example, cancer, chronic cardiac and pulmonary disease, progressive neuromuscular disorders, and degenerative disorders all give rise to varying degrees of respiratory distress, which adversely affects the patient's quality of life. In recent years, there has been significant growth in the palliation of respiratory symptoms, leading to practical ways of giving relief in hospices, hospitals, and at home. The book includes non-malignant respiratory diseases such as tuberculosis in AIDS patients, ventilator-dependent patients, and cystic fibrosis, and focuses on aetiology and diagnosis and management, emphasizing symptoms, quality of life, and psychosocial support. The underlying theme of the book is the application of modern research-based knowledge in a humane way for patients with advancing disease. Aimed primarily at specialists in palliative care, oncology, and respiratory physicians, doctors, nurses, physiotherapists, and pharmacists will also be interested. The book will appeal to those working in acute specialties such as cardiology or pulmonary medicine, whose patients are not usually considered for palliative care but in whom relief of distressing respiratory problems could improve the quality of life.
