International Perspectives on the Teaching and Learning of Geometry in Secondary Schools Patricio Herbst, Ui Hock Cheah, Philippe R. Richard, Keith Jones, 2018-04-27 This book presents current perspectives on theoretical and empirical issues related to the teaching and learning of geometry at secondary schools It contains chapters contributing to three main areas A first set of chapters examines mathematical epistemological and curricular perspectives A second set of chapters presents studies on geometry instruction and teacher knowledge and a third set of chapters offers studies on geometry thinking and learning Specific research topics addressed also include teaching practice learning trajectories learning difficulties technological resources instructional design assessments textbook analyses and teacher education in geometry Geometry remains an essential and critical topic in school mathematics As they learn geometry students develop essential mathematical thinking and visualization skills and learn a language that helps them relate to and interact with the physical world Geometry has traditionally been included as a subject of study in secondary mathematics curricula but it has also featured as a resource in out of school problem solving and has been connected to various human activities such as sports games and artwork Furthermore geometry often plays a role in teacher preparation undergraduate mathematics and at the workplace New technologies including dynamic geometry software computer assisted design software and geometric positioning systems have provided more resources for teachers to design environments and tasks in which students can learn and use geometry In this context research on the teaching and learning of geometry will continue to be a key element on the research agendas of mathematics educators as researchers continue to look for ways to enhance student learning and to understand student thinking and teachers decision making

Elevating the Teaching Profession Matthew Weber, 2023-03-06 Perhaps the most salient lesson learned from the pandemic was how much we still need teachers Technology will not usurp the fundamental auspices of principals master teachers counselors and other support staff Students as social learners require guidance structure and reassurance from adults The empirical evidence suggests economically disadvantaged students suffer the most from the restricted personal connection of over reliance on technology The data indicate that teachers 1 cannot be replaced in the foreseeable future and 2 are the most critical component for student realization of future readiness The status quo is antiquated faltering with crisis talent shortages and only projected to intensify further Preserving the U S s global standing and expanding democratic principles for equality are inseparably coupled with the plight of teachers Reinvigorating the teaching profession requires decisive action to reorganize the ecosystem and professional opportunities for educators Enticing growing pools of talent into the teaching profession involves establishing a vibrant academic structure and altering the perception of teacher value My viewpoint is to start with teachers The optimal approach for educational excellence is empowered teachers working in a tiered system for progressive leadership Grounded in a supportive structure to earn increasing autonomy teachers elevate their professional agency
