Understanding Psychological Testing in Children Stewart Gabel, G.D. Oster, S.M. Butnik, 2013-06-29 There is a considerable amount of interest within pediatrics and primary health care that is currently being directed toward the behavioral and emotional problems of childhood Traditionally these areas have been emphasized by child psychiatrists child psychologists and psychiatric social workers Now however the detection and in some cases the assessment and treatment of children with these types of disturbances fall within the province of primary child health care professionals Even when the child psychiatrist or child psychologist provides the primary mental health treatment for the child specialists such as pediatricians family physicians pediatric nurses pediatric nurse practitioners and speech therapists remain instrumental in support of the ongoing psychotherapeutic process as providers of some other aspect of total health care to the child and family For these pediatricians family physicians and other nonpsychologist primary health care providers it is essential to acquire an understanding and effective working knowledge of important psychological information and concepts to utilize within their own framework and professional responsibilities In order that this may be accomplished these professionals with limited backgrounds in psychology must better understand how psychologists themselves assess children and how they derive the conclusions reflected in the statements and reports that are shared with members of their own and other disciplines In short nonpsychologists must become substantially more familiar with psychological assessment particularly with psychological testing and the subsequent reporting of results

One Country, Two Systems Kam C. Wong, 2017-07-28 The legal issues evoked by cross border crime in Hong Kong and China are sparse and what does exist is mostly in Chinese This book provides the first systematic comprehensive and in depth analysis of how Chinese British Hong Kong and international law were applied in the Big Spender case Kam C Wong outlines the respective positions of various parties to the dispute Part of the case s fascination involves competing interests and that political clout counted for more than legal theory Big Spender may be little known outside Hong Kong and China but he made history there It was the first time a Hong Kong legal resident had been prosecuted tried and ultimately executed in China for acts largely perpetrated in Hong Kong The case tested the limits of the one country two systems approach under which Hong Kong and China coexist It also forced politicians government officials and the public in both Hong Kong and China to come to terms with the legal and policy issues related to cross border crime Wong sees the Big Spender case as making clear the dire need for both sides to find workable solutions to concurrent jurisdiction police cooperation and judicial assistance Until there is an acceptable arrangement governing the rendition of offenders between Hong Kong and mainland China the one country two systems formula cannot be stabilized This is a case study in large scale terms
