Decentralisation and Regional Development Eva Dick, Karin Gaesing, Daniel Inkoom, Teodoro Kausel, 2016-06-15 This book analyzes decentralisation regional development paths and success factors in different governance sectors in Ghana the Philippines Tanzania and Chile and discuss overarching aspects of relevance Decentralisation which refers to the delegation of administrative responsibilities political decision making and fiscal powers to lower levels of government is now considered one of the most efficient engines of development In Sub Saharan Africa decentralised states have made more progress in reducing poverty than those states with lower decentralisation scores But in many countries decentralisation is still considered a work in progress with unsatisfactory results From a spatial point of view the link between decentralisation and regional and district development is particularly interesting Both in the North and in the South regional or district development is seen as holding the potential for advancing social and economic development and even more so in decentralised political settings Space based networks at the regional or district level are considered instrumental for responding to locally specific challenges e g in areas lagging behind economically
