

A photograph of the Sutton Coldfield recycling centre. The foreground is a wet, reflective surface, likely a road or parking lot, showing ripples and reflections of the sky and buildings. In the middle ground, there is a long, low building with a light-colored facade and several yellow vertical posts. Behind the building, there are trees and several tall, black, multi-arm light poles. The sky is overcast and grey. A white rectangular box with black text is overlaid in the center of the image.
