

7.3 Setting the speed control

Safety note

CAUTION
	Damage to the diesel engine due to inadequate lubrication. After the engine has been out of use for an extended period (approx. 6 months or longer) or when the engine is first taken into service, operate the engine at a low set speed and without a load for approx. 20 seconds after starting. This ensures good lubrication of all bearing points before the speed and load are increased.
