The Fiction of Autobiography Micaela Maftai, 2013-07-04 Writing autobiography is a complicated often fraught activity for both writer and reader We can find many recent examples of the way such writing calls into question the author's truthfulness or their authority to present as definitive their version of a particular event or portion of their lives Drawing upon a wide range of late twentieth and early twenty first century autobiographical writing The Fiction of Autobiography examines key aspects of autobiography from the interrelated perspectives of author reader critic and scholar to reconsider how we view this form of writing and its relationship to the way we understand and construct identity Maftai considers recent cases and texts such as Didion's The Year of Magical Thinking and Frey's A Million Little Pieces alongside older texts such as Proust's In Search of Lost Time Nabokov's Invitation of a Memory and Stein's The Autobiography of Alice B Toklas In part this is to emphasise that key issues reappear and arise over decades and centuries and that texts distanced by time can speak to each other thoughtfully and poignantly

Autobiographical Poetry in England and Spain, 1950-1980 Menotti Lerro, 2017-03-07 The volume traces the founding critical theories of the autobiographical genre from the Enlightenment period to the most recent developments which since the Sixties and the essays of Roy Pascal and Jean Starobinski have had a greater and greater influence It offers in contrast to the essential and by now classic definition of Philippe Lejeune an increased effectiveness of the poem to express the narrative purposes of autobiography recognizing poetic writing that has the extraordinary ability to say what the mortal language does not say to quote Leopardi The works of Seamus Heaney Thom Gunn Carlos Barral and Jaime Gil de Biedma are analyzed here and show an unveiling of the self through memories places and objects that often characterize them and that allow to whomever recalls one's own experience through writing the recovery and restoration of essential meanings to the reconstruction not only of subjective identity but also of one's own community

Tracing the Autobiographical Marlene Kadar, Susanna Egan, 2009-10-22 The essays in Tracing the Autobiographical work with the literatures of several nations to reveal the intersections of broad agendas for example national ones with the personal the private and the individual Attending to ethics exile tyranny and hope the contributors listen for echoes and murmurs as well as authoritative declarations They also watch for the appearance of auto biography in unexpected places tracing patterns from materials that have been left behind Many of the essays return to the question of text or traces of text demonstrating that the language of autobiography as well as the textualized identities of individual persons can be traced in multiple media and sometimes unlikely documents each of which requires close textual examination These unlikely documents include a deportation list an art exhibit reality TV Web sites and chat rooms architectural spaces and government memos as well as the more familiar literary genres a play the long poem or the short story Interdisciplinary in scope and contemporary in outlook Tracing the Autobiographical is a welcome addition to autobiography scholarship focusing on non traditional genres and on the importance of location and place in life writing Read the chapter Gender Nation and Self Narration Three Generations of Dayan Women in Palestine Israel by Bina Freiwald on the Concordia University Library Spectrum Research Repository website
