This book will help K-12 teachers and leaders implement practical strategies for sustained accelerated student learning. Every Child, Every Day Michael K. Raible, 2015-12-14

Reform of the educational systems in the United States and all over the world are coming from a wide variety of sources: philanthropists and businesses, federal and state governments, administrators and teachers. Both large and small school districts have the best chance of creating a revised model of educational delivery that will produce successful students. The national statistics are awful: For every 100 low-income students that enter high school, only 65 will get a high school diploma, 53 will enroll in college, and 11 will actually complete a college degree.

Nachazel and Dziuba, 2014

And the statistics for students living in poverty are far worse. This is one of many reasons why Roger Cook and the Taylor County Schools are of particular interest. Any district with a 61% poverty rate and over 40% of students attending college and zero yes, zero dropouts deserves to be examined.

Robert W. Cole W. Cole, 2008-06-15 Designed to promote reflection discussion and action among the entire learning community Educating Everybody's Children encapsulates what research has revealed about successfully addressing the needs of students from economically ethnically culturally and linguistically diverse groups and identifies a wide range of effective principles and instructional strategies Although good teaching works well with all students educators must develop an extensive repertoire of instructional tools to meet the varying needs of students from diverse backgrounds Those tools and the knowledge base behind them are the foundation of this expanded and revised second edition of Educating Everybody's Children Each strategy discussed in the book includes classroom examples and a list of the research studies that support it The most important thing we have learned as a result of the education reform movement is that student achievement stands or falls on the motivation and skills of teachers We must ensure that all teachers are capable of delivering a standards based curriculum that describes what students should know and be able to do and that these standards are delivered by means of a rich and engaging pedagogy of plenty By these two acts we can ensure that all schools will be ready and able to educate everybody's children Carnegie, 2004 Government Reports Annual Index, 1989
