

A serene sunset scene over a sandy beach. The sun is low on the horizon, casting a warm, golden glow across the sky and the wet sand. In the foreground, a surfboard with a teal-colored nose and a black body lies on the sand. To the right of the surfboard, a small red star-shaped object is placed on the sand. The background shows the ocean with gentle waves and a dark, silhouetted cliff on the left side of the frame.

Taste Life Twice:

Tasting Life Twice Ramona Koval, 2005 Draws on interviews the author has conducted for ABC Radio National's literary program Books and Writing Joseph Heller reveals how marvellous he found his own writing Gore Vidal is his acerbic best Susan Sontag takes issue with being called a public intellectual Joyce Carol Oates gives up on being a study in remoteness when she realises that Koval has read almost everything she has written Les Murray drives through his New South Wales district and introduces his dead relatives Judith Wright declares that there was no point to writing poetry after her beloved husband died Edna O'Brien says that writing is a holy job Ian McEwan praises the rational approach to life Creativity Matthew Fox, 2004-06-17 The author of Original Blessing explores how the highest communion with the Divine can be found right at our fingertips in the simplest expressions of human creativity Drawn from a sermon that has electrified listeners here is a concise powerful meditation on the nature of creativity from Episcopal priest and radical theologian Matthew Fox Creativity is Fox at his most dynamic It is immensely practical and leaves the reader with a message to put into action in life Fox tantalizingly suggests that the most prayerful most spiritually powerful act a person can undertake is to create at his or her own level with a consciousness of the place from which that gift arises Writers and Their Notebooks Diana M. Raab, 2022-04-13 Personal reflections on the vital role of the notebook in creative writing from Dorianne Laux Sue Grafton John Dufresne Kyoko Mori and more This collection of essays by established professional writers explores how their notebooks serve as their studios and workshops places to collect to play and to make new discoveries with language passions and curiosities For these diverse writers the journal also serves as an ideal forum to develop their writing voice whether crafting fiction nonfiction or poetry Some include sample journal entries that have since developed into published pieces Through their individual approaches to keeping a notebook the contributors offer valuable advice personal recollections and a hearty endorsement of the value of using notebooks to document develop and nurture a writer's creative spark

Embrace the flaws and gleam Parbin Irani Aktara, Aliya Siddiqui, Love yourself embrace your flaws and never let the opinions of others affect your self confidence You are enough Bethany Mota Every human being on this earth is unique and absolutely exquisite within themselves irrespective of the flaws and scars You are magnificent the way you are neither better than others nor worse but utterly divergent in your own way The fact is that nobody is perfect everyone has shortcomings more or less but the world will seem peaceful when you accept yourself and flourish with love Comparing yourself with others is the most disastrous act you will be doing to self You only see what they allow you to see being unaware of the reality Don't be afraid of your flaws Acknowledge them and you too can bring something beautiful to life Embrace the flaws and gleam is a book consisting of 32 contributing authors who have penned down their overwhelming thoughts and emotions The book comprises of poems stories and articles which displays the author's experience of the world regarding healing process of heart while overcoming the battle inside and embrace them with warmth Make sure you value yourself regardless of your flaws Only a brave and a strong willed person can do so The Use of Self Professor Emeritus of Social Work Raymond Fox, Raymond Fox, 2011-06 The finest teachers attempt to make direct connections between classroom knowledge and its application to the varieties of practice Ray Fox emphasizes that a teacher of future practitioners must expand upon lectures and mere memorization the interaction between teacher and student should substantially model ones that students are encouraged to employ with clients The Use of Self presents an active learner centered process of professional education that emphasizes relationships and reflection in the classroom The book shows how teachers can establish classroom environments of sharing openness challenge and change According to the author the goal of higher education is to mold students into scientifically sophisticated humane and client centered practitioners with knowledge grounded in discipline and skills anchored in art and compassion This book will help professors accomplish this goal Part 1 integrates conceptual knowledge with affective and experiential processes These chapters focus on artistry and creativity in teaching Part 2 describes methods to help students establish a sound professional identity and prepare for effective professional functioning The author presents ways to involve students in adapting course content and direction so as to merge their styles of learning with the instructor's style of teaching thus providing an environment conducive to shaping professional minds Part 3 provides teaching methods and tools that promote reflection and encourage students to relate to classmates and eventually clients
