scientific archaeological and historical evidence on the interplay of social change and environmental phenomena at the end of Antiquity and the dawn of the Middle Ages covering the period ca 300-800 AD. It gives a new impetus to the study of the environmental history of this crucial period of transition between two major epochs in premodern history. The volume contains both systematic overviews of the previous scholarship and available data as well as a number of interdisciplinary case studies. It covers a wide range of topics including the histories of landscape, climate, disease and earthquakes, all intertwined with social, cultural, economic and political developments.
