Borders George Andreopoulos, 2012-12-09 Globalization has had a sharp impact on the definition of national security as the interconnectedness of many threats calls for them to be addressed at the national and global level simultaneously Law enforcement efforts must increasingly include elements of international and transnational communication and cooperation Police forces in different countries must find common ways to share data and track international crime trends This timely work analyzes key challenges confronting the law enforcement community with regards to international crime particularly illegal trafficking and terrorism The contributions in this volume are the result of a series of workshops that brought together international law enforcement officials researchers and representatives from intergovernmental organizations IGOs and non governmental organizations NGOs to examine the need for international police cooperation the specific challenges this presents and to propose solutions This work will be of interest to researchers in law enforcement criminal justice crime prevention and international relations Human Trafficking Joan Reid, 2017-10-02 Human trafficking involves the violation of societal norms and often activates criminal justice responses including police courts juvenile justice and child protective services Due to the complex nature of human trafficking some behaviours that facilitate human trafficking cannot be easily identified and assigned to conventional crime categories As a result of this complexity criminologists have yet to fully explore the problem of human trafficking In recent years however there has been a growing interest among criminologists in human trafficking and its intersections with the criminal justice system and overlap with conventional types of crime This edited collection of research aims to underscore these intersections in order to further improve the description explanation and prevention of human trafficking Research contained in this book provides a step forward by describing police perceptions and responses to human trafficking while also providing insight into victims with reports on victim perceptions of their treatment by the police Most notably this volume has moved research on human trafficking beyond descriptive frequencies to sophisticated multivariate analyses This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Crime and Justice

Sex Trafficking, Scandal, and the Transformation of Journalism, 1885-1917 Gretchen Soderlund,2013-06-03 In Sex Trafficking Scandal and the Transformation of Journalism Gretchen Soderlund offers a new way to understand sensationalism in both newspapers and reform movements By tracing the history of high profile print exposés on sex trafficking by journalists like William T Stead and George Kibbe Turner Soderlund demonstrates how controversies over gender race and sexuality were central to the shift from sensationalism to objectivity and crucial to the development of journalism in the early twentieth century

The Seductions of Quantification Sally Engle Merry,2016-06-10 We live in a world where seemingly everything can be measured We rely on indicators to translate social phenomena into simple quantified terms which in turn can be used to guide individuals organizations and governments in establishing policy Yet counting things requires finding a way to make them comparable And in the process of translating the confusion of social life into neat categories we inevitably strip it of context and meaning and risk hiding or distorting as much as we reveal With The Seductions of Quantification leading legal anthropologist Sally Engle Merry investigates the techniques by which information is gathered and analyzed in the production of global indicators on human rights gender violence and sex trafficking Although such numbers convey an aura of objective truth and scientific validity Merry argues persuasively that measurement systems constitute a form of power by incorporating theories about social change in their design but rarely explicitly acknowledging them For instance the US State Department's Trafficking in Persons Report which ranks countries in terms of their compliance with antitrafficking activities assumes that prosecuting traffickers as criminals is an effective corrective strategy overlooking cultures where women and children are frequently sold by their own families As Merry shows indicators are indeed seductive in their promise of providing concrete knowledge about how the world works but they are implemented most successfully when paired with context rich qualitative accounts grounded in local knowledge

Sharing a Future in Asia ,2007 Sexography Nicholas de Villiers,2017-03-21 The turn of the twenty first century has witnessed an eruption of nonfiction films on sex work The first book to examine a cross section of this diverse and transnational body of work Sexography confronts the ethical questions raised by ethnographic documentary and interviews with sexually marginalized subjects Nicholas de Villiers argues that carnal and cultural knowledge are inextricably entangled in ethnographic sex work documentaries De Villiers offers a reading of cinema as a technology of truth and advances a theory of confessional and counterconfessional performance by the interviewed subject who must negotiate both loaded questions and stigma He pays special attention to the tactical negotiation of power in these films and how cultural and geopolitical shifts have affected sex work and sex workers Throughout Sexography analyzes the films of a range of non sex worker filmmakers including Jennie Livingston Pier Paolo Pasolini Shohini Ghosh and Cui Zi en as well as films produced by sex workers In addition it identifies important parallels and intersections between queer and sex worker rights activist movements and their documentary historiography De Villiers ultimately demonstrates how commercial sex is intertwined with culture and power He advocates shifting our approach from scrutinizing the motives of those who sell sex to examining the motives and roles of the filmmakers and transnational audiences creating and consuming films about sex work Mobile Orientations Nicola Mai,2018-11-16 Despite continued public and legislative concern about sex trafficking across international borders the actual lives of the individuals involved and more importantly the decisions that led them to sex work are too often overlooked With Mobile Orientations Nicola Mai shows that far from being victims of a system beyond their control many contemporary sex workers choose their profession as a means to forge a path toward fulfillment Using a bold blend of personal narrative and autoethnography Mai provides intimate portrayals of sex workers from sites including the Balkans the Maghreb and West Africa who decided to sell sex as the means to achieve a better life Mai explores the contrast between how migrants understand themselves and their work and how humanitarian and governmental agencies conceal their stories often unwittingly by addressing them all as helpless victims The culmination of two decades of research Mobile Orientations sheds new light on the desires and ambitions of migrant sex workers across the world
