

Which Car Brands Make the Best Vehicles?

We ranked 32 brands based on the Overall Scores of their models, which include road tests, reliability, satisfaction, and safety

By Jeff S. Bortolin and Anna Lam
February 16, 2022

The best car brands have model ranges that excel in our evaluations of road test performance, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety. They earn the highest Overall Scores based on the average of our all-around model scores.

BMW, Subaru, Lexus, and Honda consistently lead in the rankings by delivering a broad range of cars that have excellent road test performance, reliability, and owner satisfaction. They also score the highest for safety.

Subaru leads the luxury segment in this year, with a 9.0 overall score. It's the only luxury brand to lead in all four categories: road test performance, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety. The Chrysler Group's Dodge brand is the only brand to lead in the mainstream segment in all four categories.

The rankings can be helpful in choosing a car by looking for brands that deliver the best overall scores. The brands that lead in the rankings are the best in the industry. They also offer good service and customer support, and owners should be sure to to be included in the brand's ranking. It must have earned at least two overall scores from a brand like Subaru, Honda, Lexus, and Toyota aren't included in our rankings this year for the first time.

How We Rank the Car Brands

The overall scores for individual models based on four key factors: the road test, reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety.

For the road test scores, we use subjective ratings from 10 experts and reviewers.

Reliability ratings are based on problems reported by owners in 12 months after a car's initial sale date.

Owner satisfaction predictions are based on whether a car's owners would recommend the brand to a friend or family member.

Safety ratings are based on the number of safety recalls issued by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) for each brand.

Overall scores are the average of a brand's four overall scores (the average of the four) for the top 10 percent of reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety.
