Constructing History 11-19 Hilary Cooper,Arthur Chapman,2009-07-09 This book describes and exemplifies strategies for teaching history across the 11-19 age range in rigorous and enjoyable ways. It illustrates active learning approaches embedded in pupil-led enquiries through detailed case studies which involve students in planning and carrying out historical enquiries, creating accounts and presenting them to audiences in ways that develop increasingly sophisticated historical thinking. The case studies took place in a number of different localities and show how practising teachers worked with pupils during each year from Y6-7 to Y13 to initiate, plan and implement enquiries and to present their findings in a variety of ways. Each case study is a practical example which teachers can use as a model and modify for their own contexts, showing how independent learning linked to group collaboration and peer assessment can enhance learning. Social constructivist theories of learning applied to historical thinking underpin the book with particular emphasis on links between personalised and collaborative learning and e-learning.

Women Writers Paula Johanson, 2016-12-15. Although writing was long considered suitable only for men, there were some brave and clever women who defied the limitations cast upon their gender. Divided by chronological eras, this fascinating collection of biographies will enlighten readers about the women who have crafted the written word to record their surroundings, their imaginations and their experiences. Also included are chapter notes, a glossary, a further reading section containing books and websites and an index.

Gul Mohar Companion-5 M L Tickoo, M P Bhaskaran, Shanta Rameshwar Rao (general Editors), 2005. The Gul Mohar Companion offers reading passages with an express link to the lessons in the reader. The first grammatical item is always explicitly linked to grammar that is taught in the reader. The second grammatical item is an extension. Additional exercises on vocabulary, functions, listening, functional writing, spelling and punctuation and a new section for examination practice have been added.
