no passport required Reading on Location Luisa Moncada, 2016-12-01 From the charming city of Bath featured in Jane Austen's Persuasion to the Amazon of Mario Vargas Llosa's La Casa Verde this unique travel guide brings you to the places you've only read about Whether you want to learn more about a destination or follow in the footsteps of a favorite character Reading on Location helps you make the most of your trip Remnants of an Empire Shurmer-Smith, Pamela, 2015-02-07 When Zambia became Independent in 1964 the white colonial population did not suddenly evaporate Some had supported Independence others had virulently opposed it but all had to reappraise their nationality residence and careers A few became Zambian citizens and many more chose to stay while without committing themselves But most of the colonial population eventually trickled out of the country to start again elsewhere Pamela Charmer Smith has traced survivors of this population to discover how new lives were constructed and new perspectives generated Her account draws on the power of postcolonial memory to understand the many ways that copper miners district officers school children and housewives became the empire's relics Her work is not that of a dispassionate outsider but of one who grew up in Northern Rhodesia knew its colonial population and has considerable affection for Zambia Envy in Politics Gwyneth H. McClendon, 2018-04-10 How envy spite and the pursuit of admiration influence politics Why do governments underspend on policies that would make their constituents better off Why do people participate in contentious politics when they could reap benefits if they were to abstain In Envy in Politics Gwyneth McClendon contends that if we want to understand these and other forms of puzzling political behavior we should pay attention to envy spite and the pursuit of admiration all manifestations of our desire to maintain or enhance our status within groups Drawing together insights from political philosophy behavioral economics psychology and anthropology McClendon explores how and under what conditions status motivations influence politics Through surveys case studies interviews and an experiment McClendon argues that when concerns about in group status are unmanaged by social conventions or are explicitly primed by elites status motivations can become drivers of public opinion and political participation McClendon focuses on the United States and South Africa two countries that provide tough tests for her arguments while also demonstrating that the arguments apply in different contexts From debates over redistribution to the mobilization of collective action Envy in Politics presents the first theoretical and empirical investigation of the connection between status motivations and political behavior On The Contrary Tony Leon, 2012-02-29 The memoirs of former Opposition leader Tony Leon provide a unique glimpse into the political life of South Africa in the democratic era In incisive finely focused prose On the Contrary records Leon's thirteen year leadership of the Democratic Alliance and its predecessor the Democratic Party years in which the party grew from its marginal position on the brink of political extinction into the second largest political force in South Africa This is an adventure in ideas that involves vivid real people friends colleagues and enemies alike There is new light shed on many of the figures who have shaped modern South Africa including Nelson Mandela FW de Klerk and Thabo Mbeki A trained lawyer Tony Leon entered Parliament at age 32 at the dawn of South Africa's period of revolution and reform. He actively participated in the constitutional negotiations that led to the birth of the democratic South Africa.

Exit Wounds Peter Godwin, 2025-04-08
Award winning writer Peter Godwin brings his moving The Sunday Times London voice to his latest memoir about his evolving relationships with the women and places that shaped his life. Peter Godwin's mother is dying. Born in England and having spent most of her adult life as a doctor in Zimbabwe, she now lies on a hospital bed in the partitioned living room of his sister's London home. Peter has spent his life missing his Zimbabwean childhood, a longing that does not diminish as he reflects on his time as a journalist on the frontlines of combat around the world or life in New York with his English wife and transatlantic children. In his mother's final months, he must come to terms with everything his family was and wasn't, the secrets they kept from one another, the stoicism that sometimes threatened to destroy them, and the beauty of the wildly different places they called home. With generations of history behind him, Godwin lyrically brings us into the spaces which make us question and suffer, shows us how we can heal our own scars and celebrate the lives we have among family and friends.

White Narratives: The depiction of post-2000 land invasions in Zimbabwe
Irikidzayi Manase, 2016-12-29
The post-2000 period in Zimbabwe saw the launch of a fast-track land reform programme resulting in a flurry of accounts from white Zimbabweans about how they saw the land, the land invasions, and their own sense of belonging and identity. In White Narratives, Irikidzayi Manase engages with this fervent output of texts seeking definition of experiences, conflicts, and ambiguities arising from the land invasions. He takes us through his study of texts selected from the memoirs, fictional and non-fictional accounts of white farmers and other displaced white narrators on the post-2000 Zimbabwe land invasions, scrutinising divisions between white and black in terms of both current and historical ideology, society, and spatial relationships. He examines how the revisionist politics of the Zimbabwean government influenced the politics of identities and race categories during the period 2000-2008 and posits some solutions to the contestations for land and belonging.

What Postcolonial Theory Doesn't Say Anna Bernard, Ziad Elmarsafy, Stuart Murray, 2015-08-11
This book reclaims postcolonial theory, addressing persistent limitations in the geographical, disciplinary, and methodological assumptions of its dominant formations. It emerges, however, from an investment in the future of postcolonial studies and a commitment to its basic premise: namely, that literature and culture are fundamental to the response to structures of colonial and imperial domination. To a certain extent, postcolonial theory is a victim of its own success, not least because of the institutionalization of the insights that it has enabled. Now that these insights no longer seem new, it is hard to know what the field should address beyond its general commitments Yet the renewal of popular anti imperial energies across the globe provides an important opportunity to reassert the political and theoretical value of the postcolonial as a comparative interdisciplinary and oppositional paradigm This collection makes a claim for what postcolonial theory can say through the work of scholars articulating what it still cannot or will not say It explores ideas that a more aesthetically sophisticated postcolonial theory might be able to address focusing on questions of visibility performance and literariness Contributors highlight some of the shortcomings of current postcolonial theory in relation to contemporary political developments such as Zimbabwean land reform postcommunism and the economic rise of Asia Finally they address the disciplinary geographical and methodological exclusions from postcolonial studies through a detailed focus on new disciplinary directions management studies international relations disaster studies overlooked locations and perspectives Palestine Weimar Germany the commons and the necessity of materialist analysis for understanding both the contemporary world and world literary systems The Politically Incorrect Guide to the British Empire H. W. Crocker, III,2011-10-24 Presents an irreverent and humorous look at the four hundred year history of the British empire The North British Review ,1860 Eclectic Magazine, and Monthly Edition of the Living Age John Holmes Agnew,Walter Hilliard Bidwell,1873 Keeping Family Secrets Margaret K. Nelson,2022 Drawing on 160 published memoirs this book explores the costs and benefits in the post WWII period in the United States both for individuals and for families of keeping secrets about homosexuality institutionalization of children with disabilities unwed pregnancy involvement in left wing political activities adoption and Jewish ancestry Intimate afterlives of empire Astrid Rasch,2025-09-02 Through close readings of almost twenty autobiographies written after the break up of the British Empire the book examines how individuals engage with the changing narrative landscape brought about by decolonisation It considers the autobiographies less for what they may teach us about the moment remembered and more as windows on the act of remembering This adds a crucial dimension to our understanding of the legacies of colonialism and how the ongoing process of decolonisation is reflected on the level of the individual It argues that autobiographers are at once influenced by and seek to influence the cultural memory of empire and its legacies and the authors own position in both Situated at the intersection of imperial decolonisation history memory studies and life writing studies the book uncovers this intimate afterlife of empire
