Representations of Technology in Science Fiction for Young People Noga

Applebaum,2009-09-10 In this new book Noga Applebaum surveys science fiction novels published for children and young adults from 1980 to the present exposing the anti technological bias existing within a genre often associated with the celebration of technology Applebaum argues that perceptions of technology as a corrupting force particularly in relation to its use by young people are a manifestation of the enduring allure of the myth of childhood innocence and result in young adult fiction that endorses a technophobic agenda This agenda is a form of resistance to the changing face of childhood and technology s contribution to this change Further Applebaum contends that technophobic literature disempowers its young readers by implying that the technologies of the future are inherently dangerous while it neglects to acknowledge children s complex yet pleasurable interactions with technology today The study looks at works by well known authors including M T Anderson Monica Hughes Lois Lowry Garth Nix and Philip Reeve and explores topics such as ecology cloning the impact of technology on narrative structure and the adult child hierarchy While focusing on the popular genre of science fiction as a useful case study Applebaum demonstrates that negative attitudes toward technology exist within children s literature in general making the book of considerable interest to scholars of both science fiction and children s literature

Life and

Loss Linda Goldman,2021-08-04 For decades Life and Loss has been the book clinicians have relied on for a full and nuanced presentation of the many issues with which grieving children grapple as well as an honest exploration of the interrelationship between unresolved grief educational success and responsible citizenry This classic edition which includes a new preface from the author brings this exploration firmly into the twenty first century and makes a convincing case that children s grief is no longer restricted only to loss identified children Children s grief is now endemic it is global Life and Loss is not just the book mental health professionals need to understand grief in the twenty first century it s the book they need to work with grief in a practical and constructive way
