

A detailed Renaissance painting depicting a woman, likely a peasant or a personification of a virtue, seated amidst an abundance of food. She wears a wide-brimmed straw hat and a dark dress with a red sleeve. Her hands are positioned over a vast array of produce, including apples, pears, corn, cucumbers, and various vegetables. In the background, a cow's head is visible on the left, and a small figure of a person stands in a doorway on the right. The scene is set in a rustic, wooden environment.

Sameness in Diversity Laresh Jayasanker,2020-04-14 Americans of the 1960s would have trouble navigating the grocery aisles and restaurant menus of today Once exotic ingredients like mangoes hot sauces kale kimchi and coconut milk have become standard in the contemporary American diet Laresh Jayasanker explains how food choices have expanded since the 1960s immigrants have created demand for produce and other foods from their homelands grocers and food processors have sought to market new foods and transportation improvements have enabled food companies to bring those foods from afar Yet even as choices within stores have exploded supermarket chains have consolidated Throughout the food industry fewer companies manage production and distribution controlling what American consumers can access Mining a wealth of menus cookbooks trade publications interviews and company records Jayasanker explores Americans changing eating habits to shed light on the impact of immigration and globalization on American culture

Safe Food Marion Nestle,2010-06-15 Food safety is a matter of intense public concern and for good reason Millions of annual cases of food poisonings raise alarm not only about the food served in restaurants and fast food outlets but also about foods bought in supermarkets The introduction of genetically modified foods immediately dubbed Frankenfoods only adds to the general sense of unease Finally the events of September 11 2001 heightened fears by exposing the vulnerability of food and water supplies to attacks by bioterrorists How concerned should we be about such problems Who is responsible for preventing them Who benefits from ignoring them Who decides Marion Nestle author of the critically acclaimed Food Politics argues that ensuring safe food involves more than washing hands or cooking food to higher temperatures It involves politics When it comes to food safety billions of dollars are at stake and industry government and consumers collide over issues of values economics and political power and not always in the public interest Although the debates may appear to be about science Nestle maintains that they really are about control Who decides when a food is safe She demonstrates how powerful food industries oppose safety regulations deny accountability and blame consumers when something goes wrong and how century old laws for ensuring food safety no longer protect our food supply Accessible informed and even handed Safe Food is for anyone who cares how food is produced and wants to know more about the real issues underlying today s headlines

The Labor of Lunch Jennifer E. Gaddis, 2019-11-12 There s a problem with school lunch in America Big Food companies have largely replaced the nation s school cooks by supplying cafeterias with cheap precooked hamburger patties and chicken nuggets chock full of industrial fillers Yet it s no secret that meals cooked from scratch with nutritious locally sourced ingredients are better for children workers and the environment So why not empower lunch ladies to do more than just unbox and reheat factory made food And why not organize together to make healthy ethically sourced free school lunches a reality for all children The Labor of Lunch aims to spark a progressive movement that will transform food in American schools and with it the lives of thousands of low paid cafeteria workers and the millions of children they feed By providing a feminist history of the US National School Lunch Program Jennifer E Gaddis recasts the humble school lunch as an important and often overlooked form of public care Through vivid narration and moral heft The Labor of Lunch offers a stirring call to action and a blueprint for school lunch reforms capable of delivering a healthier more equitable caring and sustainable future

Feeding the Crisis Maggie Dickinson, 2019-11-19 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly known as food stamps is one of the most controversial forms of social welfare in the United States Although it s commonly believed that such federal programs have been cut back since the 1980s Maggie Dickinson charts the dramatic expansion and reformulation of the food safety net in the twenty first century Today receiving SNAP benefits is often tied to work requirements which essentially subsidizes low wage jobs Excluded populations such as the unemployed informally employed workers and undocumented immigrants must rely on charity to survive Feeding the Crisis tells the story of eight families as they navigate the terrain of an expanding network of assistance programs in which care and abandonment work hand in hand to make access to food uncertain for people on the social and economic margins Amid calls at the federal level to expand work requirements for food assistance Dickinson shows us how such ideas are bad policy that fail to adequately address hunger in America Feeding the Crisis brings the voices of food insecure families into national debates about welfare policy offering fresh insights into how we can establish a right to food in the United States Bitter and Sweet Ellen Oxfeld,2017-05-23 Less than a half century ago China experienced a cataclysmic famine which was particularly devastating in the countryside As a result older people in rural areas have experienced in their lifetimes both extreme deprivation and relative abundance of food Young people on the other hand have a different relationship to food Many young rural Chinese are migrating to rapidly industrializing cities for work leaving behind backbreaking labor but also a connection to food through agriculture Bitter and Sweet examines the role of food in one rural Chinese community as it has shaped everyday lives over the course of several tumultuous decades In her superb ethnographic accounts Ellen Oxfeld compels us to reexamine some of the dominant frameworks that have permeated recent scholarship on contemporary China and that describe increasing dislocation and individualism and a lack of moral centeredness By using food as a lens she shows a more complex picture where connectedness and sense of place continue to play an important role even in the context of rapid change Slow Cooked Marion Nestle,2022-10-04 Slow Cooked tells the story of how Marion Nestle achieved a late in life career as a leading public advocate for healthier and more sustainable diets Coming of age in post World War II America she had to overcome the barriers familial societal and institutional experienced by all women in that era Here she explains how she came to recognize the enormous influence of the food industry on our food choices and wrote Food Politics and her other books about the politics of food nutrition and health This is one woman s story with great relevance for anyone who eats The Pierogi Problem Fabio Parasecoli,Agata Bachórz,Mateusz Halawa,2025-08-05 The culinary landscape of Poland is significantly changing reshaped by a new generation of food producers chefs and media personalities The Pierogi Problem examines people s networks places material culture and media to explain how Polish tastemakers embrace context specific strategies to localize discourses practices and values amid an increasingly globalized food culture The decades following the end of Poland s socialist regime were marked by a rising interest in foreign cuisines and Western forms of consumption Today however ingredients cooking techniques and dishes that were once considered ordinary or part of the country s uncomfortable past are being refashioned to reflect transformations in cultural hierarchies The Pierogi Problem chronicles how and why local traditional and artisanal foods are reemerging for changing cosmopolitan appetites Meat Planet Benjamin Aldes Wurgaft,2019-09-03 In 2013 a Dutch scientist unveiled the world s first laboratory created hamburger Since then the idea of producing meat not from live animals but from carefully cultured tissues has spread like wildfire through the media Meanwhile cultured meat researchers race against population growth and climate change in an effort to make sustainable protein Meat Planet explores the quest to generate meat in the lab a substance sometimes called cultured meat and asks what it means to imagine that this is the future of food Neither an advocate nor a critic of cultured meat Benjamin Aldes Wurgaft spent five years researching the phenomenon In Meat Planet he reveals how debates about lab grown meat reach beyond debates about food examining the links between appetite growth and capitalism Could satiating the growing appetite for meat actually lead to our undoing Are we simply using one technology to undo the damage caused by another Like all problems in our food system the meat problem is not merely a problem of production It is intrinsically social and political and it demands that we examine questions of justice and desirable modes of living in a shared and finite world Benjamin Wurgaft tells a story that could utterly transform the way we think of animals the way we relate to farmland the way we use water and the way we think about population and our fragile ecosystem s capacity to sustain life He argues that even if cultured meat does not succeed it functions much like science fiction as a crucial mirror that we can hold up to our contemporary fleshy dysfunctions

Trubek, 2017-10-24 Home cooking is crucial to our lives but it is not necessary to our survival Over the past century it has become an everyday choice even though it is no longer an everyday chore By looking closely at the stories and practices of American home cooks witnessing them in the kitchen and at the table Amy B Trubek reveals our episodic but also engaged relationship to making meals Making Modern Meals explores the state of American cooking across all its varied practices whether cooking is considered a chore a craft or a creative process Trubek challenges current assumptions about who cooks who doesn t cook and what this means for culture cuisine and health Contending that cooking has changed in the past century she locates identifies and discusses the myriad ways Americans cook in the modern age In doing so she argues that changes in making our meals from shopping to cooking to dining have created new cooks new cooking categories and new culinary challenges

Hoptopia Peter A. Kopp, 2016-08-09 The contents of your pint glass have a much richer history than you could have imagined Through the story of the hop Hoptopia connects twenty first century beer drinkers to lands and histories that have been forgotten in an era of industrial food production The craft beer revolution of the late twentieth century is a remarkable global history that converged in the agricultural landscapes of Oregon s Willamette Valley The common hop a plant native to Eurasia arrived to the Pacific Northwest only in the nineteenth century but has thrived within the region s environmental conditions so much that by the first half of the twentieth century the Willamette Valley claimed the title Hop Center of the World Hoptopia integrates an interdisciplinary history of environment culture economy labor and science through the story of the most indispensable ingredient in beer

Sarreal,2023-01-24 Like coffee or tea yerba mate is one of the world's most beloved caffeinated beverages Once dubbed a devil's drink by Spanish missionaries in South America only to be later hailed by capitalists and politicians as green gold it has a long and storied history And no country consumes and celebrates yerba mate quite like Argentina Yerba Mate is the first book to explore the extraordinary history of this iconic beverage in Argentina from the precolonial period to the present From yerba mate's Indigenous origins to its ubiquity during the colonial era from its association with rural people and the poor in the late nineteenth century to its resurgence in the last years of the twentieth century Julia Sarreal meticulously documents yerba mate's consumption production and cultural importance over time Yerba Mate is the definitive history of this popular beverage and social practice and it tells a fascinating story about race culture and how a drink helped forge the national identity of one of the world's most dynamic countries Nile Nightshade Anny Gaul,2025-10-28 A cultural and culinary history of modern Egypt through the nation's beloved tomato By the end of the twentieth century the tomato indigenous to the Americas had become Egypt's top horticultural crop and a staple of Egyptian cuisine The tomato brought together domestic consumers cookbook readers and home cooks through a shared culinary culture that sometimes transcended differences of class region gender and ethnicity and sometimes reinforced them In Nile Nightshade Anny Gaul shows how Egyptians embrace of the tomato and the emergence of Egypt's modern national identity were both driven by the modernization of the country's food system Drawing from cookbooks archival materials oral histories and vernacular culture Gaul follows this commonplace food into the realms of domestic policy and labor through the hands of Egypt's overwhelmingly female home cooks As they wrote recipes and cooked meals these women forged key aspects of public culture that defined how Egyptians recognized themselves and one another as Egyptian Let's Ask Marion Marion Nestle,Kerry Trueman,2020-09-29 There is no one better to ask than Marion who is the leading guide in intelligent unbiased independent advice on eating and has been for decades Mark Bittman author of How to Cook Everything Let's Ask Marion is a savvy and insightful question and answer collection that showcases the expertise of food politics powerhouse Marion Nestle in exchanges with environmental advocate Kerry Trueman These informative essays show us how to advocate for food systems that are healthier for people and the planet moving from the politics of personal dietary choices to community food issues and finally to matters that affect global food systems Nestle has been thinking writing and teaching about food systems for decades and her impact is unparalleled Let's Ask Marion provides an accessible survey of her opinions and conclusions for anyone curious about the individual social and global politics of food Divided Spirits Sarah Bowen,2015-10-01 Divided Spirits tells the stories of tequila and mezcal two of Mexico's most iconic products In doing so the book illustrates how neoliberalism influences the production branding and regulation of local foods and drinks It also challenges the strategy of relying on alternative markets to protect food cultures and rural livelihoods In recent years as consumers increasingly demand to connect with the people and places that produce their food the concept of terroir the taste of place has become more and more prominent Tequila and mezcal are both protected by denominations of origin DOs legal designations that aim to guarantee a product s authenticity based on its link to terroir Advocates argue that the DOs expand market opportunities protect cultural heritage and ensure the reputation of Mexico s national spirits Yet this book shows how the institutions that are supposed to guard the legacy of all Mexicans often fail those who are most in need of protection the small producers agave farmers and other workers who have been making tequila and mezcal for generations The consequences for the quality and taste of tequila and mezcal and for communities throughout Mexico are stark Divided Spirits suggests that we must move beyond market based models if we want to safeguard local products and the people who make them Instead we need systems of production consumption and oversight that are more democratic more inclusive and more participatory Lasting change is unlikely without the involvement of the state and a sustained commitment to addressing inequality and supporting rural development
