Parts of an informal report

Reports are written for many different reasons and use two basic formats. One is the long or formal report and the short or informal report. But EVERY report, like every letter, essay, or article has 3 main parts: Introduction, Discussion sections, Conclusion. These reports follow the same format as the memo but are longer and more comprehensive. Because they are longer than one or two pages, reports also include such formatting elements as headings, bulleted or numbered lists, and graphs and charts or tables.

Introduction

The introductory section includes 3 parts:

1. a statement of the problem or situation,
2. the task assigned to the writer and the scope of the project.
3. purpose of the report and forecasts for the reader the topics of the report.

(PLEASE REFER TO OUTLINE SECTION I. INTRODUCTION)

Finally, when appropriate, the introduction ends with the conclusion or recommendation reached by the writer.

Discussion Sections

Another aspect of report writing that is somewhat different from other business communications is the reading patterns of various audiences. Remember that most memos and reports have a target audience, but a number of secondary audiences who must be accommodated. Some of the readers will skim the report. In other words, the report, particularly the discussion sections, may not be read in a linear way—from the first word progressing to the last. Therefore, the writer must be certain the report is comprehensible when read in that manner. Each section must work together as part of the whole report, but a reader should be able to read one section and understand the context. Anytime you use a list, or graphic or visual representation, you should introduce that list or visual and explain its purpose to the audience.

Participatory Action Research for Educational Leadership E. Alana James, Margaret T. Milenkiewicz, Alan Bucknam, 2008 While written for masters students in any Educational Leadership concentration this is a core text for departments that teach action research as a primary research methodology or a supplemental text for those that place it in a range of research methods The book provides a readable overview of the PAR process similar to professional learning communities in schools Its design reaches out to visual learners as graphic elements guide graduate students through the research methods they need to successfully complete rigorous projects The results of the original PAR study and continued work with educational leaders lead us to believe that this approach ultimately produces the results school leaders seek and appreciate Key Features

- o Clear process through both the PAR steps employing a research logic model throughout This benefits the graduate student or educational leader by leading them to data driven outcomes that are valid credible and reliable
- o Graphic elements guide the reader through the process and aid the visual learner in keeping track of the concepts behind the theory
- o Reflective questions precede each section This increases the reflective practices and routines of the reader as appropriate to the PAR process
- o Tasks written for both groups and individuals aid participatory teams in working towards consensus and strong research designs
- o Practitioner stories make the lessons real and ease the emotional unease that come from tackling research practices the first time

Intended Audience This book represents the evolution of PAR from a soft science to a process appropriate for educators in today s data driven environments or for graduate students whose thesis needs to pass the recommendations of professors steeped in positivist traditions
