BASIC CONCEPTS

- Definition of marketing:
 - All activities directed toward making an exchange intended to satisfy human needs or wants
 - Process of establishing and maintaining mutually beneficial relationships with stakeholders of the company to facilitate exchanges

WHAT IS MARKETING?

- The classical marketing concept is a philosophy that guides the attitude of everyone in a firm to stimulate and satisfy the needs and wants of every customer.
- Marketing includes conducting, analyzing, and using market research.
- Marketing efforts span all activities related to delivering a product or service to a consumer. They are composed of product development, design, pricing, distribution, branding, advertising, and public relations.
