

awesome AUTOBIOGRAPHIES

Our class is reading an autobiography of a very talented author/illustrator named William Joyce this week in our reading class. We are working on our very own autobiographies, as well!

In an effort to have a little bit of FUN with this writing activity, we are asking that our students create a "crafty" version of themselves at home, using the construction paper provided.

Here's what you are to do:

- Draw and then cut out the shape of your head on the construction paper.
- Include a neck, as well as a "shirt" (just the collar and shoulders) - attach them to the bottom of the head.
- Decorate your head with materials of your choice, such as yarn for the hair, sequins for earrings, crayon or colored pencils for the facial features, etc.
- Be as creative as you want and have fun with it!

DUE DATE: Monday, February 16th

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions concerning this assignment.

Thank you for helping to make your child's education an enjoyable and fun experience!

To Live Heroically Delores J. Huff,1997-03-06 To Live Heroically examines American Indian education during the last century comparing the tribal mission and Bureau of Indian Affairs BIA schools and curriculums and the assumptions that each system made about the role that Indians should assume in society This significant book analyzes the relationship between the rise of institutional racism and the fall of public education in the United States using the history of American Indian education as a model The author asserts that had the federal government really wanted an educated self sufficient Indian population it would have selected the successful nineteenth century tribal models of Indian education rather than the mission or BIA schools And her description of the reservation and bordering white community demonstrates the depth of institutional racism and its impact on local politics economics and education Huff wants the reader to see how policy is made about Indian education and to recognize the complex issues that Indian and other minority families and educators deal with in real communities August E. Niederhoff An Autobiography August E. Niederhoff,2014-08-27 Peals from a Small Potato the autobiography of August Evan Niederhoff is being published for the benefit of his grandchildren great grandchildren and future generations When I reread his book many years after it was written I was intrigued by the fascinating life he had led I think his story offers an example his descendants should know about and should share with their children It is the story of a first generation American born early in the twentieth century to a poor by current standards but stable and loving family and the successful life he attained through education hard work intellectual curiosity persistence and faith in the face of adversity a compelling love of life and a passion for travel He was not a perfect human as he is the first to declare but he is an inspirational one His story is told with humor and a wealth of personal detail that is amazing All of his adult life he kept a small diary of his daily activities recorded his experiences with snapshots and 8 mm movies wrote detailed letters to his wife and sister and collected memorabilia from his adventures These along with his remarkable memory provide ample documentation for his autobiography The richness of these resources contributes to an understanding of the man and the times in which he lived The Autobiography of a Schizoid Personality Larry Polin, 2019-09-18 This is the remarkable story of an individual who experienced severe stress starting in the womb Growing up in a highly dysfunctional family he used intellectualization as a defense against overwhelming emotional pain A high academic achiever this young man was on the Dean's List at Brown University when he suffered a catastrophic neurological collapse Labeled as schizophrenic he was on the verge of death as his twentieth birthday approached Starting to jog he avoided his demise Four years later this individual found psychoanalyst Erich Fromm's The Sane Society while browsing in a bookstore Unable to work or communicate normally with people he began a long intellectual odyssey which ultimately involved the reading of thousands of books about American society Miraculously transformed by a bodywork technique developed by Moshe Feldenkrais he continued to live with severe stress due to his lack of social skills and the crazy making institutions of an aggressive society Nine years after relearning to use his body properly this man discovered psychoanalyst Alice Miller's For Your Own Good Hidden Cruelty in Child rearing and The Roots of Violence Reading many other books about child abuse and human development he began to understand the reasons which had caused his ordeal This engrossing story is a unique combination of memoir and academic study People interested in psychology education human development American culture and social criticism will find much to ponder in it Nonfiction Matters Stephanie Harvey, 1998 A guide to bringing nonfiction into the curriculum in third through eighth grade classrooms with strategies and ideas for reading nonfiction conducting research and writing reports

The Last Gentleman Bruce Smith, 2022-01-04 A behind the scenes account of American foreign policymaking in the late twentieth century Tom Hughes assistant secretary of state for intelligence and research made an ominous prediction in 1965 In a seminal but less well known document of the Vietnam War Hughes predicted that the Democratic Party and the national consensus underlying the nation's foreign policy would break apart if the war escalated Hughes drafted the memo for his friend and fellow Minnesotan for whom he had previously worked as legislative counsel Senator Hubert Humphrey Humphrey had just been elected Vice President The memo called on President Johnson to seek negotiations to end the war but clearly failed to persuade him Tom Hughes saw his prediction come true Hughes served in the State Department through 1970 and then for 20 years as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace He worked to reestablish a professional bipartisan foreign policy for the United States and to make the foreign service more open and democratic He also built the Carnegie Endowment into the nation's leading foreign policy think tank and he remained influential in foreign policy circles In this impressive biography Bruce L R Smith tells the story of this remarkable life which also reflects much of the story of America in the last half of the twentieth century Through the eyes diary and notes of a key participant the book provides a contemporaneous perspective on such major events as the Bay of Pigs fiasco and the CIA's Operation Mongoose against the Castro regime the Cuban missile crisis Vietnam and the elections of the 1960s This book is a firsthand behind the scenes account of the people who dealt with the great issues and made critical life and death decisions for America during the cold war Resources in Education, 1999-04 Annual Report of the Town Clerk, and the Receipts and Expenditures of the Town of Woburn Woburn (Mass.), 1893 Annual Report of the Government ... Woburn (Mass.), 1893
