

Recommendation Letter

Dear [Name of Employer]:

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation for [name of student]. I highly recommend [name of student] to your organization for the position of [job title].

I have known [name of student] for the past [number of months, semesters, years] as [he/she] has taken the following courses that I teach: [list courses, give brief description of content of course]. As [his/her] professor, I have had an opportunity to observe [his/her] participation and interaction in class and to evaluate [name of student]'s knowledge of the subject matter. [He/she] is an outstanding student in all respects. [Name of student] has proven that through hard work, follow through, and team work, [he/she] can accomplish tasks in a courteous and timely manner.

[Give one or two specific examples of the student's performance. Also, list other activities that the student is involved with at the university and outside of the university. Point out the areas in which this individual has learned and had the chance to grow in with these opportunities.]

[Name of student] is well equipped to grow from challenges that [he/she] is presented with. [His/her] [List three key traits (examples: patience, teaching ability, strong computer programming skills...)], prepare [him/her] beautifully for your [company/organization]. I strongly suggest making [name of student] a member of your team at [list company name].

Sincerely,

examination of a workplace that for many years has employed an extraordinarily diverse workforce the United States Postal Service In the post civil rights era the Postal Service took a leading role in managing a diverse workforce seeking to acknowledge and honor the different groups and cultures represented among its workforce The USPS has constantly been looking for ways to motivate its employees to create a sense of fairness and belonging and to minimize interpersonal and inter group conflicts Linda Benbow examines the organizational culture and levels of diversity found in an urban United States Postal Service mail processing facility She shows how employee perceptions of social differences and their interactions with coworkers contribute to their identity and work life within the organization Painting detailed portraits of race social class and gender in a mail processing facility Benbow looks at ways employees of diverse backgrounds relate to one another identifying the issues and occasions that provoke conflict the ways that participants view one another and the forces and strategies that mitigate and conciliate conflicts This richly detailed account of a historically diverse urban post office provides a fascinating look at the dynamics of race and gender in the workplace

Faculty and First-Generation College Students: Bridging the Classroom Gap Together Vickie L. Harvey, Teresa Heinz Housel, 2011-10-11 From the Editor The population of first generation college students FGS is increasing in an ever tightening economy a time when employers demand a college degree even for an initial interview According to a 2007 study by UCLA s Higher Education Research Institute nearly one in six freshmen at American four year institutions is firstgeneration However FGS often straddle different cultures between school and home and many feel socially ethnically academically and emotionally marginalized on campus Because of these disparities FGS frequently encounter barriers to academic success and require additional campus support resources Some institutions offer increased financial aid and loan free aid packages to FGS but these remedies although welcome do not fully address the diverse and complex challenges that these students experience Responding to these complexities this volume s chapters extend previous research by examining the multiple transitions experienced by both undergraduate and graduate FGS This volume s cuttingedge research will help college and university administrators faculty and staff work better with FGS through more effective pedagogy and institutional programs Ultimately this volume affirms how learning communities are strengthened when they include diverse student populations such as FGS and meet their particular emotional academic and financial needs
