Participatory Biodiversity Conservation Cristina Baldauf, 2020-05-13 It has long been claimed that addressing biodiversity loss and other environmental problems demands a better understanding of the social dimensions of conservation nevertheless the active participation of indigenous peoples and local communities IPLCs in conservation initiatives is still a challenging and somehow controversial issue In this context this book hopes to give voice to other perspectives related to biodiversity conservation beyond the fortress conservation model and emphasize one of the pillars of democracy popular participation It covers a wide range of environments and issues of special significance to the topic such as the expansion of culturally constructed niches protected areas and food security community based management participatory agroforestry productive restoration and biocultural conservation The contents also explore the limitations and shortcomings of participatory practices in protected areas the relationship between the global crisis of democracy and the decline of biocultural diversity as well as present current discussions on policy frameworks and governance systems for effective participatory biodiversity conservation In sum this book provides a comprehensive and realistic perspective on the social dimensions of conservation based on a series of interrelated themes in participatory biodiversity conservation The connections between biocultural conservation and the current political and economic environment are highlighted through the chapters and the book closes with a debate on ways to reconcile human welfare environmental justice and biodiversity conservation

The African Democracy Muange aa Munguti, 2015-05-21 While Africa accepted to receive democracy African leaders closed their eyes against the weaknesses of the system The weakness of the African democracy was the strength of the leaders and those who were prepared to exploit the continent These prepared the big population to toil for the benefit of a few African democracy has eaten away the African culture morals lifestyle and languages African democracy ate the African form of governance justice unity peace medicine man music and dance and labeled them primitive Among the continents on earth only the African ancestry and languages have been lost and disposed In African democracies the promise of prosperity is pegged on foreign languages It is only in African democracies where every African child must put more than twenty five years to learn a foreign language to have a future Only in Africa where 75 percent of the population is insecure in all areas of life and live below the poverty line It is only in African democracies where among a billion people none can make a spoon or a simple toothpick Only African democracies depend on imports foreign investors or naturalized citizens from Asia Europe or America and not the African citizens in industrial development The world should stand up and save Africa to educate her own children in her languages Africa has the right to choose from reality away from mockery Africa is the only continent that thrives to do away with her languages in pursuit for foreign languages Africa has the only culture that is demonstrated as archaic and antihuman Everything that is African is below par compared to that of the rest of the world Why Africa is unique the Africans are a distinct people and the continent which is the most wealthy with minerals is surprisingly with the poorest people on earth There is a technology gap in Africa The African democracy is the worst form of governance ever founded by humanity

Storying the Ecocatastrophe Helena Duffy, Katarina Leppänen, 2024-05-31 How do writers and artists represent the climate catastrophe so that their works stir audiences to political action or at least raise their environmental awareness without however appearing didactic Storying the Ecocatastrophe attempts to answer this question while interrogating the potential of narrative to become a viable political force The collection of essays achieves this by examining the representational strategies and ideological goals of contemporary cultural productions about climate change These productions have been created across different genres such as the traditional novel dance performance solarpunk economic report collage and space opera as well as across different languages and cultures The volume s twelve chapters demonstrate that rising temperatures erratic weather extinction of species depletion of resources and coastal erosion and flooding are an effect of our abusive relationship with nature They also show that our use of nuclear power extraction of natural resources and extensive farming including heavy reliance on pesticides intersect with intrahuman violence as fleshed out by heteropatriarchy racism neo colonialism and capitalism They finally argue that human activity has indirectly contributed to other contemporary crises namely the migrant crisis and the spread of contagious diseases such as Covid 19 Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
