

Personal Essay

It was one of the beautiful summer days in Iran, one of the pretty hot days that are common in this region. The city had already waked up, but I did not have the slightest intention of getting out of bed. What for? To meet with the judging stares again? To hear how awkward I was? To face vivid, open hostility? I was so tired of that. Still, I did not have a choice. I promised my mother I would sweep the backyard, the place where I would see our "nearest and dearest" neighbors. Do not get me wrong, I like people, and I am always looking forward to helping them. Nevertheless, what I cannot stand is prying into my personal life.

If you ever go to Iran, be ready for continuous prying. At first, you can mistake it for curiosity. All people would seem so friendly to you. They will listen to you with close attention. You bet it flatters one's vanity. However, in a week, you will understand what I mean. Living here is like living in an aquarium. The neighbors treat you as a quaint fish and observe you all the time waiting for some kind of trick. What type of fish was I supposed to be? Most probably, people saw me as a clownfish. I was a Christian, and it bothered them a lot. I was unlike others, I was a black swan among them. To tell the truth, I wanted to be another fish. I wanted to be a plaice. I dreamt of hiding myself in sand and algae so that nobody would see me. Oh, I would give everything I had to become a plaice and skip sweeping that damn backyard. Nevertheless, I had to do it. So, I humbly put my shoes on and floated outside the room.

Two heads appeared over the fence immediately. "Good morning, Jasmine!"

Fact, Fancy and Opinion Robert Malcolm Gay,1923 Books of 1912- Chicago Public Library,1923 Concepts and Choices Richard E. Mezo,2001 Concepts and Choices is a new approach to teaching writing one that incorporates recognized concepts and techniques with some neglected ones and some entirely new ones The assumption is made that extensive practice without attending to such concepts provides nothing more for students than the opportunity for frequent repetition of error. Therefore, this book calls for smaller, manageable units of instruction. In addition, the so-called process model of writing, used extensively by teachers today, has emphasized the discovery of arguments, neglecting almost entirely descriptive narrative writing at the expense of more important elements, including the quality of content. Writing is a complex activity that cannot be reduced to an analogy in which it is compared to an assembly line at a factory. Good writing indeed requires a rigorous apprenticeship, one that goes beyond a few hours a day in a classroom. This book attempts to provide a guide to good writing.

On Second Language Writing Tony Silva, Paul Kei Matsuda, 2012-12-06. On Second Language Writing brings together internationally recognized scholars in a collection of original articles that collectively delineate and explore central issues with regard to theory, research, instruction, assessment, politics, articulation with other disciplines, and standards. In recent years, there has been a dramatic growth of interest in second language writing, and writing instruction in many parts of the world. Although an increasing number of researchers and teachers in both second language studies and composition studies have come to identify themselves as specialists in second language writing, research and teaching practices have been dispersed into several different disciplinary and institutional contexts because of the interdisciplinary nature of the field. This volume is the first to bring together prominent second language writing specialists to systematically address basic issues in the field and to consider the state of the art at the end of the century and the millennium.
