Contemporary Masculinities in Fiction, Film and Television Brian Baker, 2016-07-28 While masculinity has been an increasingly visible field of study within several disciplines sociology literary studies cultural studies film and tv over the last two decades it is surprising that analysis of contemporary representations of the first part of the century has yet to emerge

Professor Brian Baker evolving from his previous work Masculinities in Fiction and Film Representing Men in Popular Genres 1945-2000 intervenes to rectify the scholarship in the field to produce a wide ranging readable text that deals with films and other texts produced since the year 2000 Focusing on representations of masculinity in cinema popular fiction and television from the period 2000-2010 he argues that dominant forms of masculinity in Britain and the United States have become increasingly informed by anxiety trauma and loss and this has resulted in both narratives that reflect that trauma and others which attempt to return to a more complete and heroic form of masculinity While focusing on a range of popular genres such as Bond films war movies science fiction and the Gothic the work places close analyses of individual films and texts in their cultural and historical contexts arguing for the importance of these popular fictions in diagnosing how contemporary Britain and the United States understand themselves and their changing role in the world through the representation of men fully recognising the issues of race ethnicity class sexuality and age Baker draws upon current work in mobility studies and in the study of masculinities to produce the first book length comparative study of masculinity in popular culture of the first decade of the twenty first century movement determining the progression or flow of the film from shot to shot and deciding how to narrate the story to the spectator Directed By Steven Spielberg combines film studies scholarship with the approach taken by many filmmaking manuals The unique value of the book lies in its grounding of formal film analysis in filmmaking
