Who's Gonna Water My Tomatoes? Michael A. Szolowicz, 2024-09-25 Who s Gonna Water My Tomatoes School Gardens Kitchens and the Search for Educational Authenticity updates an old concept for our modern age utilizing school gardens and culinary kitchens where students grow prepare and eat their own food Over a century ago the educational philosopher John Dewey proposed reforming education around the needs of the whole child emphasizing academic learning and the child s social needs for effective participation in a democratic society In Dewey s view children would best learn by engaging in authentic experiences that would introduce complement and complete their regular classroom experiences Dewey talked about school gardens and kitchens as two specific laboratories where children could apply what they were learning in school in daily life Today the tensions between experiential learning and the more rote learning often found in regular classrooms remain Educators increasingly find themselves accountable to the narrow performance pressures imposed by standardized testing pressures that often squeeze out the joys and possibilities for more authentic and engaging learning found in real world experiences This book explores Dewey s philosophy with particular attention given to experiential learning s relationship to gardens and kitchens The school garden and kitchen movement itself has ebbed and flowed over the last hundred years in response to changing societal and educational pressures This history leads to the present day where the edible schoolyard movement is experiencing a new spring as educators parents and school communities find value in edible schoolyard s possibilities for providing more wholistic education that better meets the academic social and emotional needs of students The book focuses on a network of edible schoolyards by introducing educators teachers principals and staff who are making edible schoolyards happen today

Their vision and motivations form in their favorite lessons and in the connections between garden and kitchen experiences to the more traditional subject matter favored on state tests Suggestions and resources for starting new edible schoolyards including suggested recipes are provided for those who want to get growing with their own edible schoolyards Perfect for courses such as Educational Reform Educational History Educational Philosophy Educational Leadership Curriculum Development and Transformation Experiential Learning Project Based Learning and Educational Policy Environments

New York Magazine, 1995-04-17 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea

The Thumpin' Naftali Bendavid, 2008-12-10 In the 2006 midterm elections the Democratic party ended twelve years of electoral humiliation by seizing back Congress and putting an end to Republican rule The Thumpin is the story of that historic victory and the man at the center on whom Democratic hopes hinged Congressman Rahm Emanuel head of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee DCCC Chicago Tribune reporter Naftali Bendavid had exclusive access to Emanuel and the DCCC in the year and a half leading up to the elections and ended up with the story of a lifetime the thrilling blow by blow account of how Emanuel remade the campaign in his own ferocious image Responsible for everything from handpicking Congressional candidates to raising money for attack ads Emanuel a talented ballet dancer better known in Washington for his extraordinary intensity and his inexhaustible torrents of profanity threw out the playbook on the way Democrats run elections Instead of rallying the base Rahm sought moderate to conservative candidates who could attract more traditional voters Instead of getting caught in the Democrats endless arguments about their positions he went on the attack personally vilifying Republicans from Tom DeLay to Christopher Shays And instead of abiding by the gentlemen's agreements of good old boy Washington he broke them attacking his counterpart in the Republican party and challenging Howard Dean the chairman of his own party In 2005 no one believed victory was within the Democrats grasp But as the months passed Republicans were caught in wave after wave of scandal support for the war in Iraq steadily declined and the president's poll numbers plummeted And in Emanuel

the Democrats finally had a killer a ruthless closer like Karl Rove or Lee Atwater poised to seize the advantage and deliver what President Bush would call a thumpin Taking its cues from classic political page turners like Showdown at Gucci Gulch and documentaries like The War Room The Thumpin takes us inside the key races and the national strategy making that moved the Democrats from forecasted gains of three seats in 2005 to a sweeping gain of thirty seats when the votes were finally counted Through this masterful account of Rahm s rout Bendavid shows how the lessons the Democrats learned in 2006 to fight for every vote to abandon litmus tests and to take no prisoners will be crucial to the party s future electoral success and shape the political course the nation will take in the twenty first century This Above All Rachael
