Urban Livelihoods A People Centred Approach To Reducing Poverty:

Urban Livelihoods Carole Rakodi, Tony Lloyd-Jones, 2002 First Published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Livelihood and Urban Poverty Reduction in Ethiopia Tegegne Gebre-Egziabher, 2011 The international development policy agenda is currently dominated by the theme of poverty reduction The theme has been vigorously pursued by multilateral donors such as The United Nations Development Programme UNDP World Bank and others Their assistance has also been tuned to pro poor policy frameworks Poverty however is understood mainly to be a rural phenomenon This is based on the fact that rural poverty is widespread and pervasive and affects a large segment of the population since the majority of people in less developed countries reside in rural areas There is however an increasing trend of urban growth and with it urban poverty all over the world In Ethiopia urban poverty in comparison to rural poverty and national level poverty has increased over time This has necessitated urban poverty reduction as an important area of intervention in urban development and planning The objective of this study is to understand the livelihood situations of the poor in big and small towns and identify the gaps and linkages between the livelihood requirements of the poor and policies at municipal level The study was conducted in nine cities and towns of the country including the capital city Urban Livelihoods Tony Lloyd-Jones, 2014 One of the most promising approaches to poverty reduction in developing countries is to encourage sustainable livelihoods for the poor This takes account of their opportunities and assets and the sources of their vulnerability Based on recent and extensive research this volume thoroughly assesses the value of the livelihoods approach to urban poverty The book reviews the situation and strategies of the urban poor and identifies the policies and practical programmes that work best Lasting improvements depend not just on economic development but on political commitment and structures that are responsive to the claims and needs of different groups of poor people Urban Livelihoods, Institutions and Inclusive Governance in Nairobi Bob Hendriks, 2025-10-01 This study formulates conditions for sustainable impacts of inclusive and responsive governance through invited spaces offered by the government and claimed spaces created by the poor The study questions how increased contributions to poverty reduction and improvement of quality of life for Nairobi citizens can be realised in an equitable and responsible way while contributing to development of the city and country To adequately address this two sided objective of economic growth and poverty reduction in the contemporary context the study analyses both processes and impacts moreover it examines impacts in terms of quality of life as well as influence and political rights The study explores the individually claimed spaces of households in Nairobi s slums the collectively claimed spaces of hybrid mechanisms for access to peri urban land and tenure and the invited spaces of city wide governance networks Livelihoods and Development , 2017-06-06 This books aims to further develop theory and practice on people centred development in particular on the livelihood approach It focuses on four contemporary thematic areas where progress has been booked but also contestation is still apparent power relations power struggles and underlying structures livelihood trajectories and livelihood pathways house home and homeland in the context of violence and mobility and immobility Contemporary livelihood studies aim to contribute to the understanding of poor people's lives with the ambition to enhance their livelihoods Nowadays livelihood studies work from an holistic perspective on how the poor organize their livelihoods in order to understand their social exclusion and to contribute to interventions and policies that intend to countervail that Contributors are Clare Collingwood Esland Ine Cottyn Jeanne de Bruijn Leo de Haan Charles do Rego Benjamin Etzold Urs Geiser Jan Willem le Grand Griet Steel Paul van Lindert Annelies Zoomers

Home-based Economic Activities and Caribbean Urban Livelihoods Hebe Verrest, 2007 Poor urban households in the economic south deploy various livelihood activities One of these is a Home Based Economic Activity HBEA e.g. sales of home made snacks or car maintenance This study examines the prevalence organisation and relevance of HBEAs in four neighbourhoods in the Caribbean cities Paramaribo Suriname and Port of Spain Trinidad and Tobago Recent economic developments in these countries diverge Suriname recovers slowly from a crisis while Trinidad and Tobago's economy is buoyant These economic features together with local political developments have produced distinct institutional contexts This gives ground for a comparison between the two cities In addition the study discusses the relevance of currently popular policies on entrepreneurship and micro finance The above issues have been assessed through use of multiple quantitative and qualitative methods The study shows that forty percent of households in the examined neighbourhoods earn money through operating HBEAs These are mainly operated by women and assist households in improving their livelihoods from a level of survival to a level of security Most HBEA operators aim at earning additional incomes and reducing vulnerability Only a small group meets the image of the classic operator who innovates takes risk and aims at growth and profit The two groups organize their HBEA in very distinct ways Differences between Suriname and Trinidad and Tobago are small First of all economic growth has limited impact on assets and vulnerability of low income groups Moreover policies aiming at stimulation of entrepreneurship such as micro credit are relevant to classic entrepreneurs and not to the large group of security seeking HBEA operators

Power and Informality in Urban Africa Laura Stark, Annika Björnsdotter Teppo, 2021-12-16 Urban Africa is undergoing a transformation unlike anywhere else in the world as unprecedented numbers of people migrate to rapidly expanding cities But despite the growing body of work on urban Africa the lives of these new city dwellers have received relatively little attention particularly when it comes to crucial issues of power and inequality This interdisciplinary collection brings together contributions from urban studies geography and anthropology to provide new insights into the social and political dynamics of African cities as well as uncovering the causes and consequences of urban inequality Featuring rich new ethnographic research data and case studies drawn from across the continent the collection shows that Africa's new urbanites have adapted to their environs in ways which often defy the assumptions of urban planners By examining the experiences of these urban residents in confronting issues of power and agency the contributors consider how such insights can inform more effective approaches to research city planning and development both in Africa and beyond

Cities and Development Jo Beall, Sean Fox, 2009-09-10 By 2030 more than sixty percent of the world's population will live in urban areas with most of the world's population growth over the next twenty five years being absorbed by cities and towns in low and middle income countries What are the consequences of this shift Demographic pressure already strains the capacity of local and national governments to manage urban change Today nearly one billion people live in slums and in the absence of significant intervention that number is set to double in the next two decades Will our future be dominated by mega cities of poverty and despair or can urbanization be harnessed to advance human and economic development Cities and Development provides a critical exploration of the dynamic relationship between urbanism and development Highlighting both the challenges and opportunities associated with rapid urban change the book surveys the historical relationship between urbanization and development the role cities play in fostering economic growth in a globalizing world the unique characteristics of urban poverty and the poor record of interventions designed to tackle it the complexities of managing urban environments issues of urban crime violence war and terrorism in contemporary cities the importance of urban planning governance and politics in shaping city futures This book brings into conversation debates from urban and development studies and highlights the strengths and weaknesses of current policy and planning responses to the contemporary urban challenge It includes research orientated supplements in the form of summaries boxed case studies development questions and further reading The book is intended for senior undergraduate and graduate students interested in urban international and development studies as well as policy makers and planners concerned with equitable and sustainable urban development

Social Sustainability in Urban Areas Tony Manzi, Karen Lucas, Tony Lloyd Jones, Judith Allen, 2010-08-12 This groundbreaking new volume on social sustainability offers both critique and creative solutions It challenges the conventional wisdoms of social sustainability and presents practical examples of projects that will help practitioners to think carefully and innovatively about the situations they are addressing The book consists of original contributions from academics working in the fields of urban planning housing regeneration transport and international sustainable development Drawing on case study research gathered in the UK Europe and Africa it adopts an original interdisciplinary approach to both theory and practice illustrating the challenges and opportunities facing policy makers and practitioners attempting to develop manage and maintain sustainable communities The authors argue that the dominant approach of how to do small scale social sustainability fails to locate it within broader social processes Ignoring the context not only sustains but also actively reproduces wider inequalities The book presents a new more coherent and more complete approach to issues of social sustainability in urban areas The book approaches current urban policy discourses in three different ways represented by three sections firstly focusing on small places within the urban fabric secondly addressing the whole urban fabric by examining whether changing urban living and working patterns The third section explores some of the ways that funding can be secured to achieve the aims of social sustainability and the social planning associated with it

City-Hinterlands of Asia Debnath Mookherjee,George M. Pomeroy,Le Thi Thu Huong,2023-05-16 In the context of mounting challenges stemming from a rapid transformation of the urban regional landscapes in many Asian countries this book highlights a multifaceted array of issues that increasingly engage the academic and planning communities in search of viable solutions to complex problems facing us Even though cities continue to dominate development studies urbanization of Asia is evolving toward a hybrid urban rural nexus beyond the cities This volume considers these shifting dynamics of Asian urbanization including urban spatial transformations and their ramifications in the context of sustainability and planning

Through the lens of a set of empirical studies across diverse disciplines geographies and methodologies yet with an overarching concern for sustainability in varied but interconnected areas such as climate change land use planning infrastructure and urban mobility and quality of life these studies examine a range of important topics e g flooding transportation housing open space green space urban garden and such in city regional settings Together they add insights into varied transformational processes or patterns at work on the urban regional landscapes in a number of Asian countries while offering innovative approaches or alternatives The proposed volume fills a gap in urban regional studies in context of South and Southeast Asia that will be of interest to all stakeholders e g planners administrators academicians and the citizenry particularly those interested in sustainability and planning paradigms It should be a timely and valuable addition to the Asian urbanization literature

To Subsidise My Income Dick Foeken, 2006-07-01 Urban agriculture in sub Saharan Africa has gained momentum in recent years in terms of research and policy as well as in practical terms The paradox of accelerated urbanisation and the increase in urban agriculture in developing countries is widely recognised More than ever before urban residents all over the developing world are cultivating urban plots and or keeping animals to sustain their livelihoods This volume looks at urban farming in the Kenyan town of Nakuru and is based on surveys and in depth studies carried out by various researchers including Kenyan Masters students It considers farming techniques the socio economic aspects of urban farming and the environmental issues involved and there is also a chapter on school farming Specific attention is paid to urban farming in relation to poverty with the conclusion being that those who depend on urban agriculture the most are in fact benefiting the least from it

Human Rights, Race, and Resistance in Africa and the African Diaspora Toyin Falola, Cacee Hoyer, 2016-10-04 Africans and their descendants have long been faced with abuse of their human rights most frequently due to racism or racialized issues Consequently understanding shifting conceptualizations of race and identity is essential to understanding how people of color confronted these encounters This book addresses these issues and their connections to social justice discrimination and equality movements From colonial abuses or their legacies black people around the world have historically encountered discrimination and yet they do not experience injustice opaquely The chapters in this book explore and clarify how Africans and their descendants struggled to achieve agency despite long histories of discrimination Contributors draw upon a range of case studies related to resistance and examine these in conjunction with human rights and the concept of race to provide a thorough exploration of the diasporic experience Human Rights Race and Resistance in Africa and the African Diaspora will appeal to students and scholars of Ethnic and Racial Studies African History and Diaspora Studies
