

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions 1 and 2

May Day is International Workers' Day is observed on May 1 all over the world today to commemorate the historical struggles and sacrifices of the working people to establish an eight-hour workday. It is a public holiday in almost all the countries where workers have the industrial freedom (1) is the first of the calendar in Europe and the US. On workers' day, workers are given a day off. Workers receive more money in May.

On May 1st in 1886, organized by the trade unions (2) half of the workers in the McCormick Harrow Manufacturing Company were on strike demanding an eight-hour workday. The strike was a success only after the death of the workers. The strike was successful after 1886 workers had joined it. The strike was addressed by the labor union. They urged the workers to strike in support of the strike and to go to the city hall. In the past of the city, some workers were killed by the police. The workers were told the news in long lines from factory about 100 policemen arrested them with clubs and whips. The police were used against the workers. The workers were arrested and many were injured. The events of May 1, 1886 are remembered by workers all around the world today stand up and speak out to get better working conditions, better pay and more rights.

Read the passage and answer the questions (3-4)

Statistics show that about 350 million people speak English as a first language and 300 million use it as a second language. It is the official or semi-official language in more than 60 countries and of many international organizations. The International Olympic Committee, for example, always holds meeting in English. English helps the international community and the business world to communicate across national borders. Today, more than 80% of all the information in the world's computers is in English. So, organizations frequently need employees, who speak and write a standard form of English. In fact, some companies provide English language training for their staff. It is, therefore, little wonder that job advertisements nowadays often ask for a good working knowledge of English. Many believe now that English usually helps them to get good jobs and better salaries.
