Self and Story in Early Childhood Hugh Crago, 2022-09-22 Our children grow up into a world of stories in books on screens but what do they make of the stories we offer them What do they think and feel as they listen to a parent read a picture book What if a story confuses or upsets them Over the past fifty years several intelligent committed mothers undertook the onerous task of recording exactly what their children said and did in response to the stories they shared Some of their records extended over five years or even longer Their research done without funding or academic supervision offers us unparalleled insight into children's minds long before they learn to speak let alone learn to read In Self and Story in Early Childhood Hugh Crago draws on his unusual combination of expertise in literary studies developmental psychology and psychotherapy to re-examine the startling implications of this neglected body of evidence He highlights how much children can achieve without formal teaching but with the supportive presence of a trusted adult who will participate with them in the story experience This book will be of great interest to scholars of developmental psychology early literacy and narratology as well as to professionals working with preschoolers Most of all it will fascinate parents who themselves share stories with their child

Artificial Intelligence and Literary Creativity Selmer Bringsjord, David Ferrucci, 1999-09-01 Is human creativity a wall that AI can never scale Many people are happy to admit that experts in many domains can be matched by either knowledge based or sub-symbolic systems but even some AI researchers harbor the hope that when it comes to feats of sheer brilliance mind over machine is an unalterable fact In this book the authors push AI toward a time when machines can autonomously write not just humdrum stories of the sort seen for years in AI but first rate fiction thought to be the province of human genius It reports on five years of effort devoted to building a story generator the BRUTUS 1 system This book was written for three general reasons The first theoretical reason for investing time money and talent in the quest for a truly creative machine is to work toward an answer to the question of whether we ourselves are machines The second theoretical reason is to silence those who believe that logic is forever closed off from the emotional world of creativity The practical rationale for this endeavor and the third reason is that machines able to work alongside humans in arenas calling for creativity will have incalculable worth
