Shaping Summertime Experiences National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Board on Children, Youth, and Families,Committee on Summertime Experiences and Child and Adolescent Education, Health, and Safety,2019-12-30 For children and youth summertime presents a unique break from the traditional structure resources and support systems that exist during the school year For some students this time involves opportunities to engage in fun and enriching activities and programs while others face additional challenges as they lose a variety of supports including healthy meals medical care supervision and structured programs that enhance development Children that are limited by their social economic or physical environments during the summer months are at higher risk for worse academic health social and emotional and safety outcomes In contrast structured summertime activities and programs support basic developmental needs and positive outcomes for children and youth who can access and afford these programs These discrepancies in summertime experiences exacerbate pre existing academic inequities While further research is needed regarding the impact of summertime on developmental domains outside of the academic setting extensive literature exists regarding the impact of summertime on academic development trajectories However this knowledge is not sufficiently applied to policy and practice and it is important to address these inequalities Shaping Summertime Experiences examines the impact of summertime experiences on the developmental trajectories of school age children and youth across four areas of well being including academic learning social and emotional development physical and mental health and health promoting and safety behaviors It also reviews the state of science and available literature regarding the impact of summertime experiences In addition this report provides recommendations to improve the experiences of children over the summertime regarding planning access and equity and opportunities for further research and data collection

Regression Analysis Jeremy Arkes,2023-01-19 This thoroughly practical and engaging textbook is designed to equip students with the skills needed to undertake sound regression analysis without requiring high level math Regression Analysis covers the concepts needed to design optimal regression models and to properly interpret regressions It details the most common pitfalls including three sources of bias not covered in other textbooks Rather than focusing on equations and proofs the book develops an understanding of these biases visually and with examples of situations in which such biases could arise In addition it describes how holding other factors constant actually works and when it does not work This second edition features a new chapter on integrity and ethics and has been updated throughout to include more international examples Each chapter offers examples exercises and clear summaries all of which are designed to support student learning to help towards producing responsible research This is the textbook the author wishes he had learned from as it would have helped him avoid many research mistakes he made in his career It is ideal for anyone learning quantitative methods in the social sciences business medicine and data analytics It will also appeal to researchers and academics looking to better understand regressions Additional digital supplements are available at www.youtube.com/channel/UCenm3BWqQyXA2JRKB_QXGyw

The Achievement Gap in Reading Rosalind Horowitz,S. Jay Samuels,2017-04-07 In this volume prominent scholars experts in their respective fields and highly skilled in the research they conduct address educational and reading research from varied perspectives and address what it will take to close the achievement gap with specific attention to reading The achievement gap is redefined as a level at which all groups can compete economically in our society and have the literacy tools and habits needed for a good life Bringing valuable theoretical frameworks and in depth analytical approaches to interpretation of data the contributors examine factors that contribute to student achievement inside the school but which are also heavily influenced by out of school factors such as poverty and economics ethnicity and culture family and community stratifications and approaches to measurement of achievement These out of school factors present possibilities for new policies and practice The overarching theme is that achievement gaps in reading are complex and that multiple perspectives are necessary to address the problem The breadth and depth of perspectives and content in this volume and its conceptualization of the achievement gap are a significant contribution to the field Teaching and Leading From the Inside Out Judy F.
