Women of the Foreign Office Elizabeth Warburton, Richard Warburton, 2021-03-19 Since the suffrage campaigns in the early twentieth century the advancement of women's rights in the UK has been nonstop. Proponents of the cause have aimed for equality across all sectors: personal and civil rights, employment rights, equal pay, and yet Britain's first official female ambassador did not take up her position until 1976. Many obstacles lay between a capable educated woman and the fulfilment of her potential. Here Elizabeth and Richard Warburton cast a detailed eye over the advancement of women in the Foreign Office as diplomats, ambassadors, ministers, and Foreign Secretary. Leaving no stone unturned, they discuss the culturally conservative closed pillar of the Foreign Office in the context of the times and of the development of women's rights both in the UK and across the first world. Supported by first person accounts, they explore the stories of those who successfully broke through the constraints of convention, prejudice, and law, and why.

Critical Issues in Democratic Schooling Kenneth Teitelbaum, 2020-04-28 Focusing on a wide range of critical issues, this book provides a comprehensive analysis of the linkage of different educational ideas, policies, and practices to a commitment for democratic schooling. Informed by significant interdisciplinary research as well as by his own extensive professional experiences as a teacher, professor, department chair, and dean, Teitelbaum examines contemporary concerns related to three broad areas: 1. teaching and teacher education, 2. curriculum studies, and 3. multiculturalism and social justice. His approach is to integrate the current and the historical, the practical and the theoretical, the technical and the socio-political, and the personal and the structural. With this volume, Teitelbaum considers how schools should be organized and funded, what they should teach, and to whom the role that teachers, students, and parents should play in school life, and the need and prospects for schools and teacher education programs that foster meaningful learning, critical reflection, and social justice.

Imady,2023-02-22 The Syrian Arab Republic has rarely been out of the headlines following the rise to power of Hafiz al Asad in 1970 and Bashar al Asad in 2000 and has been at the heart of the popular protests which have come to be known as the Arab Spring This is a political biography of the author s father Dr Muhammad Imady the longest serving minister of economy in modern Syria and holder of several senior government posts Dr Imady served at the center of government personally and professionally during Hafiz al Asad s presidency and was an intimate and objective observer of all aspects of Syria s turbulent history Omar Imady follows his father s story from his beginnings to the present day charting out the seemingly never ending civil conflict human suffering and international interventions that plague the country s past and present This is an inside story based on rare sources and experiences from both father and son It illustrates the original and unique contribution of Muhammad Imady as a Damascene Reformer a rare individual who pursued the seemingly impossible task of implementing positive change while serving a regime that demanded obedience and loyalty in response to actions often at odds with Muhammad Imady s own liberal democratic political ideas At its heart this book examines the timeless challenge of maintaining one s own integrity and principles in the face of a power system which seems bent on promoting the opposite

Creating Religious Childhoods in Anglo-World and British Colonial Contexts, 1800-1950 Hugh Morrison,Mary Clare Martin,2017-01-20 Drawing on examples from British world expressions of Christianity this collection further greater understanding of religion as a critical element of modern children s and young people s history It builds on emerging scholarship that challenges the view that religion had a solely negative impact on nineteenth and twentieth century children or that secularization is the only lens to apply to childhood and religion Putting forth the argument that religion was an abiding influence among British world children throughout the nineteenth and most of the twentieth centuries this volume places religion at the center of analysis and discussion At the same time it positions the religious factor within a broader social and cultural framework The essays focus on the historical contexts in which religion was formative for children in various British settings denoted as Anglo or colonial during the nineteenth and early to mid twentieth centuries These contexts include mission fields churches families Sunday schools camps schools and youth movements Together they are treated as sites in which religion contributed to identity formation albeit in different ways relating to such factors as gender race disability and denomination The contributors develop this subject for childhoods that were experienced largely but not exclusively outside the metropole in a diversity of geographical settings By extending the geographic range even within the British world it provides a more rounded perspective on children s global engagement with religion
