PYC1501 - Basic Psychology

Human Nervous System

Impulse Conduction in the Neuron

- Neurons → Neural networks → Nervous system
- All human behaviour

 Stimuli → sensory organs → electrochemical energy → Neurons → Impulse conduction → Neurons

- External stimuli → sensory organs → Internal stimuli → brain

2 Main processes of impulse conduction:

- 1) • Electrical - impulse 1st segment of axon → terminals v electrical events at cell membrane
- 2) • Chemical - passage of impulse neuron to next v chemical process in synaptic cleft

1) Neuron is electrically charged

Potential difference - difference between positive and negative charge

- Ions - positive, negative parts

Neural membrane - Barrier splits charge - barrier bridged charge forms neutral particles

- Fluid inside, outside of neuron - chemical particles electrically charged
- Neuron electrically charged v potential difference inside, out

2) Resting membrane potential

- Impulse conducted - charge across neural membrane changes.

Resting membrane potential - Inactive readiness before impulse conduction - (-) inside = (+) outside

- Ions move - high concentration to low + opposite charges attract, similar repel
- Mechanisms maintain potential difference - selective ion permeability of membrane

Sodium (+) ions - high concentration on outside v (+) outside

Potassium (+) ions, (-) protein, (-) nucleic acid molecules v (-) inside

3) Action potential

- Neuron → Neuron
- High concentration → low concentration

Info → Synaptic connections soma - changing potential across soma membrane → propagate axon hillock, summed - total potential = threshold level → action potential triggered in axon

- Axon must have resting membrane potential for action potential to trigger
- Summed potential in axon hillock - threshold > resting potential

Resting membrane potential, Polarised - difference in potential v (+) outside, (-) inside

Action potential triggered → membrane permeable to (+) sodium influx v less (-) on inside → charges even out - membrane depolarised, no potential difference → (+) sodium - influx stops v inside slightly more (+) vs outside →
