The Handbook of Technology and Second Language Teaching and Learning

Carol A. Chapelle, Shannon Sauro, 2017-06-28 The Handbook of Technology and Second Language Teaching and Learning presents a comprehensive exploration of the impact of technology on the field of second language learning. The rapidly evolving language technology interface has propelled dramatic changes in and increased opportunities for second language teaching and learning. Its influence has been felt no less keenly in the approaches and methods of assessing learners' language and researching language teaching and learning. Contributions from a team of international scholars make up the Handbook, consisting of four parts: language teaching and learning through technology; the technology pedagogy interface; technology for L2 assessment and research; and development of technology for language learning. It considers how technology assists in all areas of language development, the emergence of pedagogy at the intersection of language and technology, technology in language assessment, and major research issues in research and development of technologies for language learning. It covers all aspects of language, including grammar, vocabulary, reading, writing, listening, speaking, pragmatics, and intercultural learning, as well as new pedagogical and assessment approaches and new ways of conceiving and conducting research and development. The Handbook of Technology and Second Language Teaching and Learning demonstrates the extensive, multifaceted implications of technology for language teachers, learners, materials developers, and researchers.

Climate Change Solutions and Environmental Migration Anna

Ginty, 2021-04-20 This book lifts the taboo on maladaptation, a different driver of environmentally induced migration which shines a light on the negative consequences arising from the solutions to climate change adaptation and mitigation policies.

Through a systematic analysis and critique of existing mitigation and adaptation policies under the United Nations

Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and international development community and supplemented by a small empirical study in Indonesia, this book catalogues how maladaptation is manufactured under existing climate change solutions. It posits that customary communities in general and women in particular are disproportionately affected by the dominant market-driven logics that underscore current climate change solutions adopted by the UNFCCC. The injustice of maladaptation is highlighted as multi-faceted and explored using political, economic, social, and ecological lenses, and the concept of environmental reintegration is also explored as a possible solution to this issue. Further possibilities are then presented in the Afterword as a combination of what the new post-neoliberalism conjuncture could potentially look like. This volume will be of great interest to students, scholars, and practitioners of climate change, environmental policy, environmental migration and displacement development studies I NGOs and civil society actors and activists more broadly      Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress.
