Time and Nature in the Poetry of Niyi Osundare Chukwunwike Anolue, 2024-08-02 This book provides an ecocritical analysis of the poetry of the famous Nigerian poet Niyi

Osundare It interrogates the intricate interface between time and nature in 11 of Osundare's defining poetry collections This is a book of postcolonial ecocriticism from an African perspective It brings together the ecocritical theory of animism and theories of geologic time in the discussion of Osundare's poetry Osundare shows that animism has a lot to offer in enriching human understanding of the ecosystem And while he eloquently catalogues problems undermining the health of the earth in this age of the Anthropocene and the Capitalocene in his poetry he also holds on to the hope of a better future The book concludes that Osundare's optimism is what informs his use of poetry to press humankind to rise to the duty of salvaging the environment Deploying an interdisciplinary approach that stretches across the fields of literature religion geology physics economics and anthropology this book will be an important read for those looking for fresh ways to understand Osundare's poetry and African nature writing Joanstown and Other Poems Michael Gilkes,2002 Between the long title poem and the other poems in the collection Michael Gilkes sets up a dialogue about the nature of memory and the meaning of experience across time The Language Of Environment George Myerson,Yvonne Rydin,2014-03-05 First published in 1996 Environment challenges modern knowledge and its institutions academic disciplines research groups journals and presses syllabuses and texts professions and data banks media experts and policy advisors The language of environment makes no policy proposals it is not prescriptive But it is an attempt to think about the cultural context of all proposals and prescriptions the cultures of authority and expertise in our time How is knowledge made to count and how do all the different claims connect or collide The Green Studies Reader Laurence Coupe,2000 Laurence Coupe brings together a collection of extracts from a wide range of both historical and contemporary ecocritical texts The Littoral Zone ,2007-01-01 In this the first collection of ecocritical essays devoted to Australian contexts and their writers Australian and US scholars explore the transliteration of land and sea through the works of Australian authors and through their own experiences The littoral zone is the starting point in this fresh approach to reading literature organised around the natural environment rainforest desert mountains coast islands Antarctica There's the beach where sexual and spiritual crises occur the Western Australian wheatbelt deserts camel trekking and the transformation of a salt flat into an inland island New Age literature that appropriates Aboriginal culture as the healing poultice for an ailing West a re-examination of pastoralism an inquiry into whether Judith Wright's work can persuade us to rejoice in the world the Limestone Plains home of the bush capital and the bogong moth tropical North Queensland national parks where the mountains meet the sea temperate islands with their history of sealing Soldier Settlement and sea country pastoral and Antarctica where a utopian vision gives way to an emphasis on its timeless icescape as minimalist backdrop for human dramas The author terrain includes poets playwrights novelists and non-fiction writers across the range of contexts constituting the littoral zone of Australia Romanticism and Aesthetic Life in Postcolonial Writing Philip Dickinson,2018-02-08 This book explores Romanticism as a force that exerts an insistent but critically neglected pressure on the postcolonial imagination From the decolonizing poetics of the Caribbean to the white writing of South Africa from the aesthetics of post imperial disappointment to postcolonial theory itself it develops an account of the textual and philosophical interpenetration of postcolonial aesthetics with Romantic ideas about sense history and world What emerges is a reading of Romantic postcolonial co involvement that moves beyond well worn models of intercanonical antagonism and the historicizing biases of conventional literary history Caught somewhere between the effects of reanimation and estrangement Romanticism appears here not as a stable textual repository prior to the postcolonial but as echo spectre self interruption or vital force that can yet only emerge in the guise of the afterlife its agency mediated but never exhausted by postcolonial writing

Jungle Fever Charlotte Rogers, 2012 The sinister jungle that ill defined and amorphous place where civilization has no foothold and survival is always in doubt is the terrifying setting for countless works of the imagination Films like Apocalypse Now television shows like Lost and of course stories like Heart of Darkness all pursue the essential question of why the unknown world terrifies adventurer and spectator alike In Jungle Fever Charlotte Rogers goes deep into five books that first defined the jungle as a violent and maddening place The reader finds urban explorers venturing into the wilderness encountering and living among the native inhabitants and eventually losing their minds The canonical works of authors such as Joseph Conrad Andre Malraux Jose Eustasio Rivera and others present jungles and wildernesses as fundamentally corrupting and dangerous Rogers explores how the methods these authors use to communicate the physical and psychological maladies that afflict their characters evolved symbiotically with modern medicine While the wilderness challenges Conrad s and Malraux s European travelers to question their civility and mental stability Latin American authors such as Alejo Carpentier deftly turn pseudoscientific theories into their greatest asset as their characters transform madness into an essential creative spark Ultimately Jungle Fever suggests that the greatest horror of the jungle is the unknown regions of the character s own mind
