

Basic Five Paragraph Essay Format

Paragraph	Content
Introduction	Sentence 1	Hook - One sentence designed to grab your reader's attention (quote, question, thought-provoking statement, anecdote, interesting fact, etc.).
	Sentence 2-3	Background Information - Connect your general hook to your specific topic. What basic information should your reader know about your topic in order to understand your essay?
	Sentence 4-5	Thesis - One to two sentences identifying your topic, claim, and specific arguments you intend to make.
Body #1 through Body #3	Sentence 1	Topic Sentence : One sentence identifying what your paragraph is going to be about. This sentence should use transitions such as, first, second, third, last, also, additionally, etc.
	Sentence 2-6	Details : Use these sentences to prove your point using specific details from the text. The more specific you can make it, the better. Use quotes, page numbers or examples from text.
	Sentences 7-8	Paragraph Summary/Transition - Briefly wrap up your paragraph by putting your final thoughts on the topic at hand. Basically in your own words, what overall idea or statement do the details you supplied create? How might this topic lead into the next idea?
Conclusion	Sentence 1	Wrap-Up Statement : This is a one sentence overview of your topic. What is the overall point/argument/idea of your essay? You can use your original thesis to create this sentence.
	Sentence 2-3	Recap Specific Ideas : Use these sentences to summarize your main points from your body paragraphs. Never word your points the exact same way. Add variety by restating the ideas using new words. At no point should you introduce new ideas in your conclusion.
	Sentence 4-5	Lasting Impression - One to two sentences leaving your reader with a memorable idea, thought or call to action. It is clear from these sentences that your essay is done.

Create Your School Library Writing Center Timothy Horan, 2016-10-16 Colleges typically have writing centers to which students can bring their writing assignments to a peer tutor for assistance but most high schools and middle schools do not. This book advocates for the creation of writing centers in 7-12 schools and explains why the school library is the best place for the writing center. There is a glaring absence of writing centers in today's K-12 schools. More and more students are being asked in college entrance testing to submit samples of their writing and employers are expecting their workers to write correctly and clearly. This book addresses the critical lack of writing centers below the undergraduate level. It demonstrates how middle school and high school librarians can create writing centers in their school libraries, explains how to assist students through a one-on-one writing tutorial method, and gives students and teachers the tools for learning and understanding the complex art of writing. Author Timothy Horan, inventor of the School Library Writing Center, establishes why school libraries represent the best and most logical places to create writing centers and why school librarians are the natural choice to direct writing center operations. He then takes readers through the process of creating a writing center from original conception up through opening day. Additional topics covered include how to publicize and grow your School Library Writing Center, maintaining your writing center for efficient operation on a daily basis as well as for years to come, how to become an effective writing center director and writing tutor, the most current technology that can be used to assist in the writing composition and research process, and working with English language learner (ELL) students within your writing center.

Basic Skills for the GED Test The Princeton Review, 2017 Presents a study guide for the GED test offering reviews of core topics and skills, guided lessons with hands-on exercises, and over 725 questions with explanations. The Assessment of L2 Written English across the MENA Region Lee McCallum, Christine Coombe, 2020-12-19 This edited book brings together contributions from different educational contexts across the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) in order to explore how L2 English writing is assessed. Across seven MENA countries, the book covers aspects of practice including task design and curriculum alignment, test re-development, rubric design, the subjective decision-making that underpins assessing students' writing, and feedback provision, learner performance, and how research methods help shed light on initiatives to improve student writing. In such coverage, chapter authors provide concrete evidence of how assessment practice is governed by their unique context yet also influenced by international standards, trends, and resources. This book will be of interest to second language teachers, assessors, and programme developers as well as test designers and evaluators. The Bedford Guide for College Writers with Reader, Research Manual, and Handbook X.
