CHAPTER I THE REMNANTS OF THE AMEDROZ FAMILY MRS AMEDROZ the wife of Bernard Amedroz Esq of Belton Castle and mother of Charles and Clara Amedroz died when those children were only eight and six years old thereby subjecting them to the greatest misfortune which children born in that sphere of life can be made to suffer And in the case of this boy and girl the misfortune was aggravated greatly by the peculiarities of the fathers character Mr Amedroz was not a bad man as men are held to be bad in the worlds esteem He was not vicious was not a gambler or a drunkard was not self indulgent to a degree that brought upon him any reproach nor was he regardless of his children But he was an idle thriftless man who at the age of sixty seven when the reader will first make his acquaintance had as yet done no good in the world whatever Indeed he had done terrible evil for his son Charles was now dead had perished by his own hand and the state of things which had brought about this woeful event had been chiefly due to the fathers neglect Belton Castle is a pretty country seat standing in a small but beautifully wooded park close under the Quantock hills in Somersetshire and the little town of Belton clusters round the park gates Few Englishmen know the scenery of England well and the prettinesses of Somersetshire are among those which are the least known But the Quantock hills are very lovely with their rich valleys lying close among them and their outlying moorlands running off towards Dulverton and the borders of Devonshire moorlands which are not flat like Salisbury Plain but are broken 251 B 2 THE BELTON ESTATE into ravines and deep watercourses and rugged dells hither and thither where old oaks are standing in which life seems to have dwindled down to the last spark but the last spark is still there and the old oaks give forth their scanty leaves from year to year In among the hills somewhat off the high road from Minehead to Taunton and about five miles from the sea stands the little town or village of Belton and the modern house of Mr Amedroz which is called Belton Castle The village for it is in truth no more though it still maintains a charter for a market and there still exists on Tuesdays some pretence of an open sale of grain and butchers meat in the square before the church gate contains about two thousand persons That and the whole parish of Belton did once and that not long ago belong to the Amedroz family They had inherited it from the Beltons of old an Amedroz having married the heiress of the family
