Neoliberalism and Cultural Transition in New Zealand Literature, 1984-2008 Jennifer Lawn, 2015-11-25 Through a literary lens Neoliberalism and Cultural Transition in New Zealand Literature 1984-2008 Market Fictions examines the ways in which the reprise of market based economics has impacted the forms of social exchange and cultural life in a settler colonial context Jennifer Lawn proposes that postcolonial literary studies needs to take more account of the way in which the new configuration of dominance increasingly gathered under the umbrella term of neoliberalism works in concert with rather than against assertions of cultural identity on the part of historically subordinated groups The pre-eminence of new right economics over the past three decades has raised a conundrum for writers on the left while neoliberalism has tended to undermine collective social action it has also fostered expressions of identity in the form of cultural capital which minority communities can exploit for economic gain Neoliberalism and Cultural Transition in New Zealand Literature 1984-2008 advocates for reading practices that balance the appeals of culture against the structuring forces of social class and the commodification of identity while not losing sight of the specific aesthetic qualities of literary fiction Jennifer Lawn demonstrates the value of this approach in a wide ranging account of New Zealand literature Movements towards decolonization in a bicultural society are read within the context of a marginal post industrial economy that was in many ways a test case for radical free market reforms Through a study of politically engaged writing across a range of genres by both Maori and non Maori authors the New Zealand experience shows in high relief the twinned dynamics of a decline in the ideal of social egalitarianism and the corresponding rise of the idea of culture as a transformative force in economic and civic life tending ultimately to blur the distinction between these spheres altogether This work includes well recognized authors such as Alan Duff Patricia Grace Witi Ihimaera Eleanor Catton and Maurice Gee but also introduces a number of non canonical or emergent writers whose work is discussed in detail for the first time in this volume The result is a distinctive literary history of a turbulent period of social and economic change

Gresshoff, 2012-12-06 We are witnessing an increased awareness of the earth's environment Examples are easily seen in the rise of Green Parties across Europe North America Australasia and lately Eastern Europe The public outcry following industrial mishaps in Alaska Chernobyl Basel and Bhopal as well as the renewed legislative activity such as the Clean Air Act in the USA and the European Community directive to member nation concerning the control of release of genetically engineered organisms are further examples of the general interest in the biosphere The Ozone hole Greenhouse gases and Genetically engineered Microorganisms have gained public profiles and are discussed widely in newspapers magazines and the electronic media A recent educational survey of nations belonging to the Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development OECD showed that school children are more literate with ecological terms as listed above than with pure scientific terms like phloem mitosis proton or Jurassic period Perhaps the increase in awareness is cyclical being fed by non scientific sociological and economic advances The late 1960s early 1970s saw a major increase in environmental consciousness Anti pollution groups were founded healthfood shops and naturopathy became acceptable as did recycling the use of lead free gasoline and the reduced usage of environmental toxins like DDT and PCB For example Monsanto Chemical Company instigated a self imposed halt to the manufacture of PCB in the mid seventies Chemical companies started to look at biodegradable herbicides slow release fertilizers and specifically targeted pesticides
