Hepplewhite and Co,1965 Furniture-Makers and Consumers in England, 1754-1851 Akiko Shimbo,2016-04-15 Covering the period from the publication of Thomas Chippendale s The Gentleman and Cabinet Makers Director 1754 to the Great Exhibition 1851 this book analyses the relationships between producer retailers and consumers of furniture and interior design and explores what effect dialogues surrounding these transactions had on the standardisation of furniture production during this period This was an era before mass production when domestic furniture was made both to order and from standard patterns and negotiations between producers and consumers formed a crucial part of the design and production process This study narrows in on three main areas of this process the role of pattern books and their readers the construction of taste and style through negotiation and daily interactions through showrooms and other services to reveal the complexities of English material culture in a period of industrialisation The Cabinet-maker and Upholsterer's Guide ,1788 Practical Cabinet Making and Draughting James Henry Rudd,1912 At Home Bill Bryson,2011-10-04 In these pages the beloved Bill Bryson gives us a fascinating history of the modern home taking us on a room by room tour through his own house and using each room to explore the vast history of the domestic artifacts we take for granted As he takes us through the history of our modern comforts Bryson demonstrates that whatever happens in the world eventually ends up in our home in the paint the pipes the pillows and every item of furniture Bryson has one of the liveliest most inquisitive minds on the planet and his sheer prose fluency makes At Home one of the most entertaining books ever written about private life A Cultural History of Furniture in the Age of Enlightenment Sylvain Cordier,Christina M. Anderson,Laura Houliston,2022-02-24 The 18th century saw the height of court culture in Europe as well as the beginnings of its demise with conflicts such as the American and French Revolutions

The Scientific Revolution which had begun in the preceding centuries also ushered in a new intellectual era which advocated the use of reason to effect change in government and to advance progress in society For furniture this meant ever higher standards of luxury in the designs techniques and materials utilized for the best pieces and more structure and specialization in the furniture making process itself Furniture also came into its own during this period as a collectable work of art on its own merits Drawing upon a wealth of visual and textual sources this volume of A Cultural History of Furniture presents essays that examine key characteristics of the furniture of the period on the themes of design and motifs makers making and materials types and uses the domestic setting the public setting exhibition and display furniture and architecture visual representations and verbal representations
