Dixon,2003-01-30 Explores the ways that stereotypes of heterosexuality are portrayed and constructed in film A Companion to Alfred Hitchcock Thomas Leitch,Leland Poague,2011-03-01 The most comprehensive volume ever published on Alfred Hitchcock covering his career and legacy as well as the broader cultural and intellectual contexts of his work Contains thirty chapters by the leading Hitchcock scholars Covers his long career from his earliest contributions to other directors silent films to his last uncompleted last film Details the enduring legacy he left to filmmakers and audiences alike Metaphor and Film Trevor Whittock,1990-09-28 In Metaphor and Film Trevor Whittock demonstrates that feature films are permeated by metaphors that were consciously introduced by directors An examination of cinematic metaphor forces us to reconsider the nature of metaphor itself and the ways by which such visual imagery can be recognised and understood as well as interpreted Metaphor and Film identifies the principal forms of cinematic metaphor and also provides an analysis of the mental operations that one must bring to it Recent developments in cognitive psychology especially those relating to the nature and formation of categories are called upon to explain these processes Metaphor and Film ranges widely over film theory as it does over philosophical literary linguistic and psychological accounts of metaphor Particularly useful to those studying film literature and aesthetics this study is also a provocative contribution to an important debate in which film theorists and philosophers are currently engaged Must We Kill the Thing We Love? William Rothman,2014-03-25 William Rothman argues that the driving force of Hitchcock s work was his struggle to reconcile the dark vision of his favorite Oscar Wilde quote Each man kills the thing he loves with the quintessentially American philosophy articulated in Emerson s writings that gave classical Hollywood movies of the New Deal

era their extraordinary combination of popularity and artistic seriousness A Hitchcock thriller could be a comedy of remarriage or a melodrama of an unknown woman both Emersonian genres except for the murderous villain and godlike author Hitchcock who pulls the villain's strings and ours Because Hitchcock believed that the camera has a murderous aspect the question What if anything justifies killing which every Hitchcock film engages was for him a disturbing question about his own art Tracing the trajectory of Hitchcock's career Rothman discerns a progression in the films meditations on murder and artistic creation This progression culminates in Marnie 1964 Hitchcock's most controversial film in which Hitchcock overcame his ambivalence and fully embraced the Emersonian worldview he had always also resisted Reading key Emerson passages with the degree of attention he accords to Hitchcock sequences Rothman discovers surprising affinities between Hitchcock's way of thinking cinematically and the philosophical way of thinking Emerson's essays exemplify He finds that the terms in which Emerson thought about reality about our flux of moods about what it is within us that never changes about freedom about America about reading about writing and about thinking are remarkably pertinent to our experience of films and to thinking and writing about them He also reflects on the implications of this discovery not only for Hitchcock scholarship but also for film criticism in general

100 Animated Feature Films Andrew Osmond, 2022-07-14 20 years ago animated features were widely perceived as cartoons for children Today they encompass an astonishing range of films styles and techniques There is the powerful adult drama of Waltz with Bashir the Gallic sophistication of Belleville Rendez Vous the eye popping violence of Japan's Akira and the stop motion whimsy of Wallace Gromit in The Curse of the Were Rabbit Andrew Osmond provides an entertaining and illuminating guide to the endlessly diverse world of animated features with entries on 100 of the most interesting and important animated films from around the world from the 1920s to the present day Blending in depth history and criticism 100 Animated Feature Films balances the blockbusters with local success stories from Eastern Europe to Hong Kong This revised and updated new edition addresses films that have been released since publication of the first edition such as the mainstream hits Frozen The Lego Movie and Spider Man Into the Spider Verse as well as updated entries on franchises such as the Toy Story movies It also covers bittersweet indie visions such as Michael Dudok de Wit's The Red Turtle Charlie Kaufman's Anomalisa Isao Takahata's Tale of the Princess Kaguya the family saga The Wolf Children and the popular blockbuster Your Name Osmond's wide ranging selection also takes in the Irish fantasy Song of the Sea France's I Lost My Body and Brazil's Boy and the World Osmond's authoritative and entertaining entries combine with a contextualising introduction and key filmographic information to provide an essential guide to animated film

The Cinema of Isolation Martin F. Norden, 1994 Filmmakers have often encouraged us to regard people with physical disabilities in terms of pity awe humor or fear as Others who somehow deserve to be isolated from the rest of society In this first history of the portrayal of physical disability in the movies Martin Norden examines hundreds of Hollywood movies and notable international ones finds their place within mainstream society and uncovers the movie industry's practices for maintaining the status quo keeping people with disabilities dependent and in their place Norden offers a dazzling array of physically disabled characters who embody or break out of the stereotypes that have both influenced and been symptomatic of society's fluctuating relationship with its physically disabled minority He shows us sweet innocents like Tiny Tim obsessive avengers like Quasimodo variations on the disabled veteran and many others He observes the arrival of a new set of stereotypes tied to the growth of science and technology in the 1970s and 1980s and underscores movies like My Left Foot and The Waterdance that display a newfound sensitivity Nordens in depth knowledge of disability history makes for a particularly intelligent and sensitive approach to this long overlooked issue in media studies

Cognitive Theory and Documentary Film Catalin Brylla, Mette Kramer, 2018-08-21 This groundbreaking edited collection is the first major study to explore the intersection between cognitive theory and documentary film studies focusing on a variety of formats such as first person wildlife animated and slow TV documentary as well as docudrama and web videos Documentaries play an increasingly significant role in informing our cognitive and emotional understanding of today's mass mediated society and this collection seeks to illuminate their production exhibition and reception Taking an interdisciplinary approach the essays draw on the latest research in film studies the neurosciences cultural studies cognitive psychology social psychology and the philosophy of mind With a foreword by documentary studies pioneer Bill Nichols and contributions from both theorists and practitioners this volume firmly demonstrates that cognitive theory represents a valuable tool not only for film scholars but also for filmmakers and practice led researchers

The Image in French Philosophy Temenuka Trifonova, 2007-01-01 The Image in French Philosophy challenges dominant interpretations of Bergson Sartre Lyotard Baudrillard and Deleuze by arguing that their philosophy was not a critique but a revival of metaphysics as a thinking pertaining to impersonal forces and distinguished by an aversion to subjectivity and an aversion of the philosophical gaze away from the discourse of vision and thus away from the image Insofar as the image was part of the discourse of subjectivity representation getting rid of the subject involved smuggling the concept of the image out of the discourse of subjectivity representation into a newly revived and ethically flavored metaphysical discourse a metaphysics of immanence which was more interested in consciousness rather than subjectivity in the inhuman rather than the human in the virtual rather than the real in Time rather than temporalization in Memory rather than memory images in Imagination rather than images in sum in impersonal forces de personalizing experiences states of dis embodiment characterized by the breaking down of sensory motor schemata Bergson's pure memory Sartre's image consciousness Deleuze's time image or more generally in that which remains beyond representation i.e. beyond subjectivity Lyotard's sublime Baudrillard's fatal object The book would be of interest to scholars and students of philosophy aesthetics and film theory

The Spectacle of the Real Geoff King, 2005 Broad questions that will be explored through the examination of a wide range of textual material concern the nature and different forms of both spectacle and of the real along with reality realism and authenticity and especially the points of conjunction between the two Fake, Fact, and Fantasy Maire Messenger Davies, 2013-11-05 Based on a study examining the meaning of the term media literacy in children this volume concentrates on audiovisual narratives of television and film and their effects It closely examines children's concepts of real and unreal and how they learn to make distinctions between the two It also explores the idea that children are protected from the harmful effects of violence on television by the knowledge that what they see is not real This volume is unique in its use of children's own words to explore their awareness of the submerged conventions of television genres of their functions and effects of their relationship to the real world and of how this awareness varies with age and other factors Based on detailed questionnaire data and conversations with 6 to 11 year old children carried out with the support of a fellowship at the Annenberg School for Communication University of Pennsylvania the book eloquently demonstrates how children use their knowledge of real life of literature and of art in intelligently evaluating the relationship between television's formats and the real world in which they live Fiction and Imagination in Early Cinema Mario Slušan, 2019-11-28 Shortlisted for the BAFTSS Best Monograph Award 2021 When watching the latest instalment of Batman it is perfectly normal to say that we see Batman fighting Bane or that we see Bruce Wayne making love to Miranda Tate We would not say that we see Christian Bale dressed up as Batman going through the motions of punching Tom Hardy dressed up as Bane Nor do we say that we see Christian Bale pretending to be Bruce Wayne making love with Marion Cotillard who is playacting the role Miranda Tate But if we look at the history of cinema and consider contemporary reviews from the early days of the medium we see that people thought precisely in this way about early film They spoke of film as no more than documentary recordings of actors performing on set In an innovative combination of philosophical aesthetics and new cinema history Mario Slušan investigates how our default imaginative engagement with film changed over the first two decades of cinema It addresses not only the importance of imagination for the understanding of early cinema but also contributes to our understanding of what it means for a representational medium to produce fictions Specifically Slušan argues that cinema provides a better model for understanding fiction than literature

Filming the Modern Middle East Lina Khatib, 2006-09-29 Filming the Modern Middle East is the first comparative investigation of how modern American cinema and the cinemas of the Arab world represent Middle Eastern politics to their audiences Lina Khatib examines the cinematic depictions of major political issues from the Arab Israeli conflict to the Gulf War to Islamic fundamentalism and covers films made in the USA in Egypt Tunisia Morocco Lebanon Syria and Palestine She explores cinema's role as a tool of nationalism in the USA and the Arab world and the challenges the Arab cinemas present to Hollywood's dominant representations of Middle Eastern politics But she also reveals similarities between supposed contradictory cinemas and importantly not only how the Orient is constructed by the Occident but also how the Orient itself in these cinemas represents Self and Others and how it is consumed by internal as well as external struggles This is a fascinating original contribution to the burgeoning interest in world cinemas which also offers a fresh way of seeing Middle East politics through cinematic lenses Law and Film Vittoria Becci,Alexia Katsiginis,Edward Van Daalen,2024-12-31 This book explores how law can be understood through film by engaging creatively with the intellectual and aesthetic dimensions of both fields The contributors to this book consider the need to turn to film and what this means for how we come to understand law and its absences The chapters explore a variety of narratives aesthetics cinematic epistemologies and legal phenomena from assessing law in social debates to film as legal critique from notions of justice to contemplations on evil and from masculine vigilantism to radical feminism Taken together they constitute an inspiring body of work that embodies an urgency for diverse and subversive ways to challenge law s formalism and authority and to think about and respond variously to law s impotence its disappointment or its boredom This book will appeal to legal scholars and students in law and the humanities especially those with interests in aesthetics law and literature law and culture law and society and critical legal theory Close Encounters Carolyn Keene,2012-05-22 Could aliens actually exist in small town Vermont Nancy suspects not Nancy Bess and George have driven from River Heights to northern Vermont to visit a friend of George and her mom s who owns a quaint touristy small restaurant caf in a town near a major ski resort They are amazed that though it is past the height of foliage season and barely ski season there is a traffic jam of cars waiting to catch a ferry they decide to drop out of line and drive to a local diner When they question the waitress about what is going on she is surprised they haven t heard but there have been repeated and credible UFO sightings over the border in ski country in Vermont George jokes about little green men in snowsuits Bess suggests the men are red but wearing green snowsuits Nancy simply cracks up but grows serious when the waitress reveals that even Federal government investigators have been called in Vermont is turning into a North Country Roswell New Mexico It s been great for business here and throughout northern Vermont particularly for the town at the foot of the ski resort but we re all getting a little tired of the crowds the waitress confides Narratives and Narrators Gregory Currie,2010-02-18 Narratives are artefacts of a special kind they are intentionally crafted devices which fulfil their story telling function by manifesting the intentions of their makers But narrative itself is too inclusive a category for much more to be said about it than this we should focus attention instead on the vaguely defined but interesting category of things rich in narrative structure Such devices offer significant possibilities not merely for the representation of stories but for the expression of point of view they have also played an important role in the evolution of reliable communication Narratives and narrators argues that much of the pleasure of narrative communication depends on deep seated and early developing tendencies in human beings to imitation and to joint attention and imitation turns out to be the key to understanding such important literary techniques as free indirect discourse and character focused narration The book also examines irony in narrative with an emphasis on the idea of the expression of ironic points of view It looks closely at the idea of character or robust situation independent ways of acting and thinking as it is represented in narrative It asks whether scepticism about the notion of character should have us reassess the dramatic and literary tradition which places such emphasis on character Screen Writings Bert Cardullo, 2010-03-01 Screen Writings Partial Views of a Total Art Classic to Contemporary offers close readings of individual films intended to explain how moviemakers use the resources of the medium to pursue complex and significant humanistic goals It fills the middle ground between vague simple plot summaries and theoretical pronouncements As such this book can be considered a call for the return of practical criticism as the best way to understand and appreciate the work of cinematic artists Crime and the Media Richard V. Ericson, 1995 A great deal of what is consumed and made integral to daily life through the mass media are stories of crime law and justice This study explores the ramifications of this focusing on such topics as media formats institutional relations and popular drama and fear Revolution at the Gates V.I. Lenin, 2014-05-20 The idea of a Lenin renaissance might well provoke an outburst of sarcastic laughter Marx is OK but Lenin Doesn't he stand for the big catastrophe which left its mark on the entire twentieth century Lenin however deserves wider consideration than this and his writings of 1917 are testament to a formidable political figure They reveal his ability to grasp the significance of an extraordinary moment in history Everything is here from Lenin the ingenious revolutionary strategist to Lenin of the enacted utopia To use Kierkegaard's phrase what we can glimpse in these writings is Lenin in becoming not yet Lenin the Soviet institution but Lenin thrown into an open contingent situation In Revolution at the Gates Slavoj Žižek locates the 1917 writings in their historical context while his afterword tackles the key question of whether Lenin can be reinvented in our era of cultural capitalism Žižek is convinced that whatever the discussion the forthcoming crisis of capitalism the possibility of a redemptive violence the falsity of liberal tolerance Lenin's time has come again Preventive Diplomacy Kevin M. Cahill, 2013-02-01 The suppression of war has been the primary objective of the United Nations for almost fifty years and stopping a war before it starts is easier than ending a war already underway History however has shown that military interventions and economic sanctions often do more harm than good In Preventive Diplomacy Nobel prize winners top officials and revered thinkers tackle these issues and explore the process of conflict prevention from humanitarian economic and political perspectives This cross disciplinary reader on global politics demonstrates that when new insights and methodologies on public health are applied to the handling of international disasters the change in policy perspective is intriguing even hopeful
