Everyday eBay Ken Hillis, Michael Petit, Nathan Scott Epley, 2012-12-06 Everyday eBay is the first scholarly analysis of the internet marketplace that has become a global social cultural and economic phenomenon The eighteen new and classic essays gathered here examine eBay from a wide variety of perspectives as a bellwether of taste and material culture as a rich site of cultural racial and sexual discourse and practice as an emergent media form and as a facilitator of global consumerism From old toys steeped in nostalgia to rare limited edition shoes the contributors demonstrate that value on eBay is never simply about price On any given day more than two million items are listed for sale on eBay from everyday objects to kitsch and collectibles to the truly bizarre Since its debut ten years ago eBay has quickly become a central destination for millions of web browsers According to eBay itself up to 165 000 Americans now make their living by selling through the website and other business analysts project that hundreds of thousands of individuals worldwide now make their living through eBay

Hands on Media History Nick Hall, John Ellis, 2019-09-23 Hands on Media History explores the whole range of hands on media history techniques for the first time offering both practical guides and general perspectives It covers both analogue and digital media film television video gaming photography and recorded sound Understanding media means understanding the technologies involved The hands on history approach can open our minds to new perceptions of how media technologies work and how we work with them Essays in this collection explore the difficult questions of reconstruction and historical memory and the issues of equipment degradation and loss Hands on Media History is concerned with both the professional and the amateur the producers and the users providing a new perspective on one of the modern era s most urgent questions what is the relationship between people and the technologies they use every day Engaging and enlightening this collection is a key reference for students and scholars of media studies digital humanities and for those interested in models of museum and research practice

The Human and the Machine in Literature and Culture Kate Foster, Molly Crozier, 2025-09-30 Automation is everywhere in the supermarket in home appliances and on our commutes While we worry about what automation means for human autonomy now human societies have long wondered about their replacement by machines The Human and the Machine in Literature and Culture explores the pervasive and long standing influence of automation on humanity by dismantling the prevalent future oriented perspective of many automation debates This collection examines how literature has conceptualized automation over centuries from utopian visions of a world liberated from work and domestic labour to dystopian futures in which humans are surplus to requirements We set out social and industrial developments which feed into discourses of automation and its mediation in literary cultures By bringing together theoretical approaches to real world automation with readings of its literary interpretations this volume demonstrates literature s role as a space for hypothesizing alternate realities making clear literature s propensity to inform our attitudes to real world phenomena
