

RESPONSIBLE VALUE CHAIN

102-9, 102-10

UltraTech is committed to driving sustainability across the value chain of its operations i.e. from mines to the end user. To drive our sustainability vision, we need to look beyond our own operations and consider opportunities to reduce environmental footprint, increase resource efficiency and negate the impact on communities across the entire value chain. Efforts in this direction will help us build a robust and sustainable supply chain that is able to mitigate risk from externalities and adapt to changes quickly. Taking our business forward in the most efficient and sustainable way possible, we have institutionalized a methodology to evaluate and engage with such vendors who align with our sustainability paradigms.

Procurement Management

103-1, 103-2, 103-3, 103-3.1, 204-1

Procurement practices aim at meeting the business needs for materials, goods, utilities and services by focusing on aspects like societal interest, environment protection, resource optimization, and quality control that eventually lead to optimization of product cost.

While procuring equipment, we give due importance to factors like energy efficiency, fuel efficiency, and emission control. We consider the impacts of equipment purchased over the entire life cycle including its disposal phase.

We have a well-established vendor onboarding process. It involves third party screening of all new suppliers on aspects like financial risks, legal risks, quality systems, technical capabilities, and adherence to social and environmental norms.

We ensure that emphasis is made on ethical issues at the time of vendor evaluation stage itself. Our vendor registration form requires commitment from vendors on following societal aspects:

- Child Labour
- Forced & Compulsory Labour
- Health & Society
- Working Hours
- Statutory compliances

Once cleared, we have a long-term relationship with the vendors with annual rate contracts, periodical feedback and fair approach.

Sourcing through e-procurement

E-procurement has made our sourcing process more transparent and efficient. It includes a web-based supplier portal with features like Request for Quote (RFQ), submission of offers by the suppliers, generation of comparative charts and release of orders. The module is integrated with our SAP system.

A reverse auction process of real time competitive bidding for buying and transportation of material adds to efficacy of the process. E-procurement has resulted in more effective communication with our vendors and enabled significant reduction in paper work as well as travel hours.

Giving preference to local vendors

We have always given preference to local vendors when it comes to sourcing materials. In case of PP bags vendors, we have optimised the vendors located near our cement plants, based on their capability and capacity. This has resulted in lower fuel consumption and has aided in bringing prosperity to the society around our works.

While encouraging indigenous suppliers, we do not compromise on quality. We have a zero-tolerance policy on safety and we work only with those vendors who adhere to our stringent safety and quality parameters.
