Un art sans frontières Dan Bernfeld, Centre interuniversitaire de recherche en histoire de l'art contemporain (France), 1994 La perception locale des différentes formes d'un provincialisme marquée par le refus d'être l'art d'une activité perçue plus vivante ailleurs la disqualification par la modernité des limites historiques des États-nations la conscience d'un territoire culturel plus vaste traversée et identification de l'Europe d'aujourd'hui du rôle d'une partie importante de l'activité artistique manifeste une intense revendication de liberté et de mobilité Développement de l'art des institutions académiques les humanismes nouveaux ceux de la rupture le dadaïsme le surréalisme ont vocation la circulation la diffusion l'expansion au-delà des limites des territoires de la société politique La constitution de groupes d'artistes formés sur des bases à la fois territoriales et culturelles relayés ailleurs par des appuis locaux exprime l'effrayante disponibilité d'une généralisation chercher sa voie en dehors d'un cadre local régional national La relation est évidente avec la dimension internationale de la pensée politique du mouvement ouvrier avec l'idéologie sans frontières du marxisme et du socialisme pour les artistes aussi la croyance dans le nouveau passe par le rejet des limites anciennes

Art Crossing Borders Jan Dirk Baetens, Dries Lyna, 2019-02-11 Art Crossing Borders offers a thought provoking analysis of the internationalisation of the art market during the long nineteenth century Twelve experts dealing with a wide variety of geographical temporal and commercial contexts explore how the gradual integration of art markets structurally depended on the simultaneous rise of nationalist modes of thinking in unexpected and ambiguous ways By presenting a radically international research perspective Art Crossing Borders offers a crucial contribution to the field of art market studies

Internationalism and the Arts in Britain and Europe at the Fin de Siècle Grace Brockington, 2009 This collection of essays stems from the conference Internationalism and the Arts Anglo-European Cultural Exchange at the Fin de Siècle held at Magdalene College Cambridge in July 2006 The growth of internationalism in Europe at the fin de siècle encouraged confidence in the possibility of peace A war-torn century later it is easy to forget such optimism Flanked by the Franco-Prussian war and the First World War the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries were marked by rising militarism Themes of national consolidation and aggression have become key to any analysis of the period Yet despite the drive towards political and cultural isolation transnational networks gathered increasing support This book examines the role played by artists writers musicians and intellectuals in promoting internationalism It explores the range of individuals media and movements involved from cosmopolitan characters such as Walter Sickert and Henri La Fontaine through internationalist art societies to periodicals performance and the mobility of the Arts and Crafts Movement The discussion takes in the geographical breadth of Europe incorporating Belgium Bohemia Britain France Germany Hungary Italy Norway Poland Russia and Slovakia Drawing on the work of scholars from across Europe and America the collection makes a statement about the complexity of European identities at the fin de si cle as well as about the possibilities for interdisciplinary research in our own era Art sans frontières 10 ,1977
