

An aerial, high-angle view of a sprawling city. The image is dominated by numerous tall, modern skyscrapers with various architectural styles, including glass facades and repetitive window patterns. The buildings are packed closely together, creating a dense urban landscape. Interwoven between the buildings is a complex network of roads and highways, some with visible lane markings and small, colorful cars. The perspective is from directly above, looking down on the city, which emphasizes the scale and density of the urban environment. The lighting suggests a bright, sunny day, with shadows cast by the buildings.
