Turks, Moors, and Englishmen in the Age of Discovery Nabil Matar, 2000-10-25 During the early modern period hundreds of Turks and Moors traded in English and Welsh ports dazzled English society with exotic cuisine and Arabian horses and worked small jobs in London while the Barbary Corsairs raided coastal towns and if captured lingered in Plymouth jails or stood trial in Southampton courtrooms In turn Britons fought in Muslim armies traded and settled in Moroccan or Tunisian harbor towns joined the international community of pirates in Mediterranean and Atlantic outposts served in Algerian households and ships and endured captivity from Salee to Alexandria and from Fez to Mocha In Turks Moors and Englishmen Nabil Matar vividly presents new data about Anglo Islamic social and historical interactions Rather than looking exclusively at literary works which tended to present unidimensional stereotypes of Muslims Shakespeare's superstitious Moor or Goffe's raging Turke to name only two Matar delves into hitherto unexamined English prison depositions captives memoirs government documents and Arabic chronicles and histories The result is a significant alternative to the prevailing discourse on Islam which nearly always centers around ethnocentrism and attempts at dominance over the non Western world and an astonishing revelation about the realities of exchange and familiarity between England and Muslim society in the Elizabethan and early Stuart periods Concurrent with England's engagement and discovery of the Muslims was the discovery of the American Indians In an original analysis Matar shows how Hakluyt and Purchas taught their readers not only about America but about the Muslim dominions too how there were more reasons for Britons to venture eastward than westward and how in the period under study more Englishmen lived in North Africa than in North America Although Matar notes the sharp political and colonial differences between the English encounter with the Muslims and their encounter with the Indians he shows how Elizabethan and Stuart writers articulated Muslim in terms of Indian and Indian in terms of Muslim By superimposing the sexual constructions of the Indians onto the Muslims and by applying to them the ideology of holy war which had legitimated the destruction of the Indians English writers prepared the groundwork for orientalism and for the eighteenth and nineteenth century conquest of Mediterranean Islam Matar's detailed research provides a new direction in the study of England's geographic imagination It also illuminates the subtleties and interchangeability of stereotype racism and demonization that must be taken into account in any responsible depiction of English history

Eastward of Good Hope Dane A. Morrison, 2021-11-30 How did news from the East carried in ship logs and mariners reports journals and correspondence shape early Americans understanding of the world as a map of dangerous and incoherent sites Winner of the John Lyman Book Award by the North American Society for Oceanic History Freed from restrictions of British mercantilism in the years following the War of Independence Yankee merchants embarked on numerous voyages of commerce and discovery into distant seas Through the news from the East carried in mariners reports ship logs journals and correspondence Americans at home imagined the world as a map of dangerous and deranged places This was a world that was profoundly disordered hobbled by tyranny and oppression or steeped in chaos and anarchy often deadly always uncertain unpredictable and unstable yet amenable to American influence Focusing on four representative arenas the Ottoman Empire China India and the Great South Sea collectively the East Indies Oceana and the American continent s Northwest coast Eastward of Good Hope recasts the relationship between America and the world by examining the early years of the republic when its national character was particularly pliable and its foundational posture in the world was forming Drawing on recent scholarship in global ethnohistory Dane A Morrison recounts how reports of cannibal encounters shipboard massacres shipwrecks tropical fever and other tragedies in distant seas led Americans to imagine each region as a distinct set of threats to their republic He also demonstrates how the concept of justification through self doubt allowed for aggressive expansionism and for the foundations of imperialism to develop Morrison reconsiders American ideas about the world through three questions How did British Americans imagine the world before independence allowed them to travel Eastward of Good Hope What were the signal encounters that filled the public sphere in their early years of global encounter And finally how did Americans contacts with other peoples inflect their ideas about the world and their place in it

Written in a lively engaging style Eastward of Good Hope will appeal to scholars and the general public alike

Re-Orienting the Renaissance G. Maclean, 2005-10-11 This book explores how the Renaissance entailed a global exchange of goods skills and ideas between East and West In chapters ranging from Ottoman history to Venetian publishing from portraits of St George to Arab philosophy from cannibalism to diplomacy the authors interrogate what all too often may seem to be settled certainties such as the difference between East and West the invariable conflict between Islam and Christianity and the rebirth of European civilization from roots in classical Greece and Imperial Rome Anti-Black Racism in Early Modern English Drama Matthieu Chapman, 2016-11-03 This is the first book to deploy the methods and ensemble of questions from Afro pessimism to engage and interrogate the methods of Early Modern English studies Using contemporary Afro pessimist theories to provide a foundation for structural analyses of race in the Early Modern Period it engages the arguments for race as a fluid construction of human identity by addressing how race in Early Modern England functioned not only as a marker of human identity but also as an a priori constituent of human subjectivity Chapman argues that Blackness is the marker of social death that allows for constructions of human identity to become transmutable based on the impossibility of recognition and incorporation for Blackness into humanity Using dramatic texts such as Othello Titus Andronicus and other Early Modern English plays both popular and lesser known the book shifts the binary away from the currently accepted standard of white non white that defines otherness in the period and examines race in Early Modern England from the prospective of a non black black antagonism The volume corrects the Afro pessimist assumption that the Triangle Slave Trade caused a rupture between Blackness and humanity By locating notions of Black inhumanity in England prior to chattel slavery the book positions the Triangle Trade as a result of rather than the cause of Black inhumanity It also challenges the common scholarly assumption that all varying types of human identity in Early Modern England were equally fluid by arguing that Blackness functioned as an immutable constant Through the use of structural analysis this volume works to simplify and demystify notions of race in Renaissance England by arguing that race is not only a marker of human identity but a structural antagonism between those engaged in human civil society opposed to those who are socially dead It will be an essential volume for those with interest in Renaissance Literature and Culture Shakespeare Contemporary Performance Theory Black Studies and Ethnic Studies The Cambridge Companion to Shakespeare and Race Ayanna Thompson, 2021-02-25 The Cambridge Companion to Shakespeare and Race shows teachers and students how and why Shakespeare and race are inseparable Moving well beyond Othello the collection invites the reader to understand racialized discourses rhetoric and performances in all of Shakespeare's plays including the comedies and histories Race is presented through an intersectional approach with chapters that focus on the concepts of sexuality lineage nationality and globalization The collection helps students to grapple with the unique role performance plays in constructions of race by Shakespeare and in Shakespearean performances considering both historical and contemporary actors and directors The Cambridge

Companion to Shakespeare and Race will be the first book that truly frames Shakespeare studies and early modern race studies for a non specialist student audience      Gender, Mastery and Slavery William Foster,2009-12-18 Gender family and sexual relations defined human slavery from its classical origins in Europe to the rise and fall of race based slavery in the Americas Gender Mastery and Slavery is one of the first books to explore the importance of men and women to slaveholding across these eras Foster argues that at the heart of the successive European institutions of slavery at home and in the New World was the volatile question of women s ability to exert mastery Facing the challenge to play the good mother in public and private free women from Rome to Muslim North Africa to the indigenous tribes of North America to the antebellum plantations of the southern United States found themselves having to economically manage slaves servants and captives At the same time they had to protect their reputations from various forms of attack and themselves from vilification on a number of fronts With the recurrent cultural wars over the maternal role within slavery touching the worlds of politics warfare religion and colonial and imperial rivalries this lively comparative survey is essential reading for anyone studying or simply interested in this key topic in global and gender history      The Routledge Companion to Travel Writing Carl Thompson,2015-12-22 As many places around the world confront issues of globalization migration and postcoloniality travel writing has become a serious genre of study reflecting some of the greatest concerns of our time Encompassing forms as diverse as field journals investigative reports guidebooks memoirs comic sketches and lyrical reveries travel writing is now a crucial focus for discussion across many subjects within the humanities and social sciences An ideal starting point for beginners but also offering new perspectives for those familiar with the field The Routledge Companion to Travel Writing examines Key debates within the field including postcolonial studies gender sexuality and visual culture Historical and cultural contexts tracing the evolution of travel writing across time and over cultures Different styles modes and themes of travel writing from pilgrimage to tourism Imagined geographies and the relationship between travel writing and the social ideological and occasionally fictional constructs through which we view the different regions of the world Covering all of the major topics and debates this is an essential overview of the field which will also encourage new and exciting directions for study Contributors Simon Bainbridge Anthony Bale Shobhana Bhattacharji D nlaith Bird Elizabeth A Bohls Wendy Bracewell Kylie Cardell Daniel Carey Janice Cavell Simon Cooke Matthew Day Kate Douglas Justin D Edwards David Farley Charles Forsdick Corinne Fowler Laura E Franey Rune Graulund Justine Greenwood James M Hargett Jennifer Hayward Eva Johanna Holmberg Graham Huggan William Hutton Robin Jarvis Tabish Khair Zo Kinsley Barbara Korte Julia Kuehn Scott Laderman Claire Lindsay Churnjeet Mahn Nabil Matar Steve Mentz Laura Nenzi Aed n N Loingsigh Manfred Pfister Susan L Roberson Paul Smethurst Carl Thompson C W Thompson Margaret Topping Richard White Gregory Woods      The Arden Guide to Renaissance Drama Brinda Charry,2017-10-19 The Arden Guide to Renaissance Drama is a single critical and contextual resource for students embarking on an in depth exploration of early modern drama providing both critical insight and

An Intrepid Scot C. Edmund Bosworth, 2017-03-02 An Intrepid Scot makes an important new contribution to the growing literature on the perceptions of the Islamic world and the Orient in early modern Europe at the same time as illuminating the attitudes of a Protestant from Northern Europe towards the Catholic South In this book Edmund Bosworth looks at the life and career of William Lithgow a tough and opinionated Scots Protestant who had a seemingly insatiable Wanderlust and who managed to survive various misadventures and near death experiences in the course of his travels These took him through a dangerously Catholic Southern Europe to a dangerously Muslim Greece and Istanbul en route for his pilgrimage destination of the Holy Land on another occasion he went through North Africa and returned circuitously via Central and Eastern Europe but he was stopped in his tracks whilst endeavouring to reach the court of Prester John in Ethiopia when he fell into the hands of the Spanish Inquisition and narrowly escaped a horrible death Lithgow was one of several men of his time who journeyed eastwards some as far as Persia and India but unlike many others he has not been the subject of a special study Bosworth now places him within the context of the present interest in perceptions of the Islamic world and of the Orient and Orientals in early modern Europe In addition to the entertainment of the travel narrative the book shows how one Westerner of the time interpreted the alien East for his readers and how the Ottoman Empire and its apparently unstoppable might both fascinated and struck fear into the hearts of those outside it

Women Writing Back / Writing Women Back, 2010-05-25 Interest in early modern women writers is on the rise However familiarity with their works varies greatly from one country to another and resources to assess their historical significance remain insufficient Yet empirical evidence suggests that women writers who are no longer well known today played surprisingly varied roles in the literary field of early modern Europe The papers collected in this volume address early modern female authorship from the late Middle Ages to the end of the eighteenth century ranging geographically from Portugal to Russia and from Italy to Denmark In particular they focus on three themes the creation of female spaces or communities women's appropriation of existing or developing literary genres and transnational perspectives on early modern women's writings Contributors include Vanda Anastasio Bernadette Andrea Mónica Bolufer Philipe Bossier Hans Bots Kathleen Garay Nina Geerdink Perry Gethner Elena Gretchanina Ineke Janse Madeleine Jeay Anne Marie Mai Christine Mongenot Meredith Ray Ina Schabert and Lynn
