Educational Leadership for Transformation and Social Justice John Ambrosio, 2016-11-03 Educational Leadership for Transformation and Social Justice examines the relationship between the lived experiences of educational leaders at the University of the Free State in South Africa and how they think about and practice leadership for transformation and social justice Based on biographical information public speeches published writings and in depth semi structured face to face interviews the book presents and analyses seven chapter length narratives of these leaders This book explores how some leaders at the University of the Free State from the vantage point of various racialized and gendered identities and generational experiences conceptualize and enact leadership for transformation and social justice Ambrosio argues that there are certain values beliefs concepts principles and ways of thinking that cut across their experiences and demographic differences The narratives are presented in the leaders own words and describe how their lived experiences shaped their values and identities and inform how they think about and practice leadership for transformation and social justice One convergence that emerged among these leaders is that their leadership is an extension of who they are of their core values identities and ethical commitments Another is that they are motivated by visions of change that go beyond the University by bigger dreams that infuse their work with meaning and purpose With its in depth analysis of the narratives this book will provide educational leaders who have an orientation towards transformation and social justice with insights that enable them to think differently about how to make the policies programs and institutional culture of their own universities more equitable and just It will appeal to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education educational justice higher education educational leadership and change social justice and racial justice

Cyclones in Southern Africa Godwell Nhamo, Kaitano Dube, 2021-07-24 The subject of tropical cyclones in Southern Africa also known as hurricanes or typhoons in other regions of the world has been growing over the past few decades However there is still limited literature on foundational and fundamental topics on the matter To this end this book addresses this gap citing some examples from both historic and recent tropical cyclones The book presents meteorological and climatic aspects of tropical cyclones including reviews on forecasting warning message dissemination and public response aspects of early warning systems with a focus on the Tropical Cyclones Idai and Kenneth Fundamentals in disaster risk reduction DRR are also discussed moving from the provisions of the Hyogo Framework for Action 2005 2015 to the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015 2030 Climate change issues are central to the publication as well as the role of information and communication technologies in DRR and management The book also tackles some challenges and opportunities associated with the implementation of regional legal and institutional frameworks on DRR The book comes as part of a series with three volumes The other volumes include Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 1 Interfacing the Catastrophic Impact of Cyclone Idai with SDGs in Zimbabwe and Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 3 Implications for the Sustainable Development Goals To this end this book is suitable as a read for several professionals and disciplines such as tourism and hospitality studies economics sustainable development development studies environmental sciences arts geography life sciences politics planning and public health

Political Science in South Africa Peter Vale, Pieter Fourie, 2016-01-13 In 2013 and in 2014 respectively the South African Association of Political Studies SAAPS and Politikon the South African Journal of Political Studies celebrate their 40th anniversary Also in April 2014 South Africa celebrates twenty years since the advent of the post Apartheid democracy and the birth of the rainbow nation This book provides a timely account of the birth and evolution of South African politics over the past four decades but also of the study of Political Science and International Relations in this country Fourteen political scientists contribute chapters to this volume situating the study of politics within its global context and recounting the development of politics as a field of study at South African universities The fourteen contributions evaluate the state of the discipline s and suggest conclusions that are surprising and in many instances unsettling not only with regards to what and how politics is taught but also how its study has variously gained and lost pertinence for South Africans understanding of their own polity as well as its place in the world The implications are uncomfortable and pose interesting challenges for South African scholarship pedagogy and national self reflection This book was published as a special issue of Politikon

Speaking Out J. Baxter, 2016-01-26 Focusing on the female voice in public contexts language and gender specialists consider the barriers and opportunities encountered by women in gaining recognition in politics law the church education business and the media where people are increasingly judged by their speech and where male and female speech is often evaluated differently to care in urban studies while overcoming a crisis centered reading of care and the related ambivalences in care debates practices and spaces These strands are elaborated via a conceptual framework of care and situated within broader theoretical debates on cities urbanization and urban development with detailed case studies from Europe the Americas and Asia By establishing links to various fields of knowledge this book seeks to systematically introduce debates on care to the interconnecting fields of urban studies planning theory and related disciplines for the first time

Transformation and Legitimation in Post-apartheid Universities Dionne van Reenen, J.C. van der Merwe, 2016-07-01 Two decades after the democratic transition South African universities are in turmoil Whilst the old is slowly becoming unhinged reimagining the new is protracted and contested The challenges ahead including a funding crunch are formidable and bear the imprint of South African postcolonial specificities and global transformations in higher education At this moment critical and engaged socio historical scholarship is indispensable Transformation and Legitimation in Post apartheid Universities Reading discourses from Reitz is such a work Revisiting the notorious Reitz incident of 2008 when a satirical video made by students from the University of the Free State UFS to register their resistance to the racial integration of black students into historically white residences became public the text offers an analysis of the broader cultural and socio political context that constituted the conditions of possibility for the incident and its aftermath Attention is shifted from the principal actors in the original drama a handful of students and workers to a critical interrogation of the broader structures positions discourses and practices that fed into the Reitz incident reaching into the present with violent and racially charged student and worker protests in 2016 Van der Merwe and Van Reenen deliver a theoretically rich analysis of the anatomy of current contestations about race and transformation in higher education in South Africa the resultant legitimation crisis facing the UFS and South African universities more generally as well as ways to restore institutional legitimacy and reputation focusing on instituting deeper more durable change that unlocks the promise of democracy Dr Irma du Plessis University of Pretoria

Many Rivers to Cross: Black Migrations in Brazil and the Caribbean Elaine P. Rocha, 2024-01-23 Since the first contact with Europeans the Americas have been a continent of immigrants as much as a continent of continuous migrations Black migrations represent more than the transit of people between countries and regions and from rural areas to urban centers It contributed to constructing networks that made survival possible creating neighborhoods and cultural expression impacting dietary habits exchanging crops and agricultural techniques and uplifting families from slavery and misery to ownership education and political representation The most dangerous elements that moved from place to place with blacks were the ideas of freedom and citizenship This book brings together articles from authors dedicated to the study of black migrations in diverse countries as well as in diverse historical periods to highlight that the movement of black people has been continuous over the centuries Sometimes voluntarily others coerced people have moved from one place to another carrying with them history and important cultural traditions such as language music and religion Moreover dangerous ideas of liberty and equality would spread through the African Diaspora Ten authors from renowned universities contributed with their works on black migrations from a transnational perspective exploring how people have transited between regions countries and continents carrying their ideas costumes beliefs and strategies for survival In their trajectories migrants built communities created religions musical traditions languages and much more They influenced politics contributed to revolutions and wars to the economy and shaped societies For centuries Latin America s official history has pushed black immigrants histories to the margins keeping them in the shadows and denying their importance in the construction of the modern world The works brought together in this book aim to contribute to breaking this pattern bringing the experiences of black migrants from the margins to the center
