Un Report On The Drc:

The Democratic Republic of Congo Michael Deibert, 2013-09-12 Over the past two decades the Democratic Republic of Congo has been at the centre of the deadliest series of conflicts since the Second World War and now hosts the largest United Nations peacekeeping mission in the world In this compelling book acclaimed journalist Michael Deibert paints a picture of a nation in flux inching towards peace but at the same time solidifying into another era of authoritarian rule under its enigmatic president Joseph Kabila Featuring a wealth of first hand interviews and secondary sources the narrative travels from war torn villages in the country's east to the chaotic pulsing capital of Kinshasa in order to bring us the voices of the Congolese from impoverished gold prospectors and market women to government officials as it explores the complicated political ethnic and economic geography of this tattered land A must read for anyone interested in contemporary Africa The Democratic Republic of Congo Between Hope and Despair sheds new light on this sprawling and often misunderstood country that has become iconic both for its great potential and dashed hopes Landmine Monitor Report, 2004

nations are making efforts mobilize their various resources to develop Congo is driven to sink into indescribable misery Contemporary life in Congo contrast with the potential found in this country Indeed there is a huge contrast between the potential in men natural resources basements soil climate hydrography flora fauna etc in Congo and the life of the majority of Congolese living in the country And in the words of MKANDAWIRE T quoted by Professor Andr Mbata B MANGO and MPRARISENI BUDELI lecturer at the University of South Africa since its independence June 30 1960 the history of the Democratic Republic of Congo has been a succession of coups attempted secessions attacks by foreign troops civil wars rebellions plundering authoritarian regimes interventions of the United Nations UN and national conferences or dialogues 1 Given the above it is necessary to ask questions Why this paradox What constitutes the obstacle to achieve the well being of the Congolese In response to these questions several answers have been proposed the economic disintegration lack of capital lack of developmental political structures etc In this regard we believe that the lack of developmental political structures would be the main cause of the chaotic situation in the Congo DRC Came then the major issues how to change the policy in the Congo DRC What to do to get the legitimate aspirations of the people

The Political Economy of Civil War and UN Peace Operations Mats Berdal, Jake Sherman, 2023-03-31

This book examines the operational and political challenges facing UN peace operations deployed in countries where civil war and protracted violence have given rise to the complex and distinctive political economies of conflict The volume explores the nature and impact of such political economies informal systems of power and influence formed by the interaction of local national and region wide war economies with the political agendas of conflict actors on the course of UN peace operations It focuses in detail on the UN's long running peace operations in the Democratic Republic of Congo South Sudan Afghanistan Sierra Leone Mali and Somalia The book is centrally concerned with the interaction of UN missions with the power structures and local conflict dynamics that shape individual mission settings and the challenges these pose for mediation protection of civilians and other tasks It also offers a critical assessment of the various ways in which the UN system from its headquarters in New York to the field has confronted the policy challenges posed by political economies of conflict affected states societies and regions It advances a pragmatic set of policy recommendations aimed at improving the UN's ability to confront predatory and exploitative war economies At the same time the volume makes it clear that political and institutional obstacles to more effective UN action are certain to remain profound and are unlikely ever to be fully overcome let alone eradicated Despite making some progress since the 1990s to better understand the political economy of civil wars the UN has struggled with how to tackle informal networks of power and their consequences for efforts to end

wars The book will be of special interest to students of war and conflict studies statebuilding political economy of conflict UN interventionism and peacebuilding and IR Security in general Building Peace After War Mats Berdal,2017-10-03 The widespread practice of intervention by outside actors aimed at building sustainable peace within societies ravaged by war has been a striking feature of the post Cold War era But at a time when more peacekeepers are deployed around the world than at any other point in history is the international will to intervene beginning to wane And how capable are the systems that exist for planning and deploying peacebuilding missions of fulfilling the increasingly complex tasks set for them In Building Peace After War Mats Berdal addresses these and other crucial questions examining the record of interventions from Cambodia in the early 1990s to contemporary efforts in Afghanistan and the Democratic Republic of the Congo The book analyses the nature of the modern peacebuilding environment in particular the historical and psychological conditions that shape it and addresses the key tasks faced by outside forces in the early and critical post conflict phase of an intervention In doing so it asks searching questions about the role of military force in support of peacebuilding and the vital importance of legitimacy to any intervention Berdal also looks critically at the ways in which governments and international organisations particularly the UN have responded to these many challenges He highlights the pivotal role of politics in planning peacebuilding operations and offers some sober reflections on the future prospects for post conflict intervention

Genocide, Ethnonationalism, and the United Nations Hannibal Travis, 2013-01-17 Genocide Ethnonationalism and the United Nations examines a series of related crises in human civilization growing out of conflicts between powerful states or empires and indigenous or stateless peoples This is the first book to attempt to explore the causes of genocide and other mass killing by a detailed exploration of UN archives covering the period spanning from 1945 through 2011 Hannibal Travis argues that large states and empires disproportionately committed or facilitated genocide and other mass killings between 1945 and 2011 His research incorporates data concerning factors linked to the scale of mass killing and recent findings in human rights political science and legal theory Turning to potential solutions he argues that the concept of genocide imagines a future system of global governance under which the nation state itself is made subject to law The United Nations however has deflected the possibility of such a cosmopolitical law It selectively condemns genocide and has established an institutional structure that denies most peoples subjected to genocide of a realistic possibility of global justice lacks a robust international criminal tribunal or UN army and even encourages security cooperation among states that have proven to be destructive of peoples in the past Questions raised include What have been the causes of mass killing during the period since the United Nations Charter entered into force in 1945 How does mass killing spread across international borders and what is the role of resource wealth the arms trade and external interference in this process Have the United Nations or the International Criminal Court faced up to the problem of genocide and other forms of mass killing as is their mandate
