Welcome to room 1011. My name is Ms. Griffin and I can't begin to tell you how excited I am to have you in my class this year. This year will be packed full of learning adventures that I hope will be both exciting and challenging. Our class motto is "Never settle for anything less than your best". I expect each and every one of you to try new things, ask for help, and never give up. These will be the key ingredients to your success in this class.

This year we will be finding adventure in class novels, becoming scientists in investigating hidden worlds, discovering our nation's elaborate history, and using manipulatives to master math skills. This is my first year as a classroom teacher so there will be a lot of learning going on in this classroom for all of us! I graduated from Kansas State College one year ago where I received a degree in both Elementary Education and Psychology. I played soccer throughout my four years of college and I still love to watch the game and will be coaching the Mountain View Middle School girls soccer team this year!

In my free time I enjoy any activity that allows me to be outside. I love to hike up in Ptarmigan North, camp along the rivers up North, and ride my bike 50 miles out to the beach. I also enjoy doing arts and crafts, reading, and spending time with friends and family.

I would like to know more about each of you! Please write a letter back to me telling me things that you are excited about for this year, what your favorite after-school activities are, your favorite classes or sports, etc. I would also like to know what you think you will need from me to either be or successful in fifth grade this year.

Closing the Opportunity Gap Vijay Pendakur, 2023-07-03 This book offers a novel and proven approach to the retention and success of underrepresented students It advocates a strategic approach through which an institution sets clear goals and metrics and integrates the identity support work of cultural diversity centers with skill building through cohort activities enabling students to successfully navigate college graduate on time and transition to the world of work Underlying the process is an intersectional and identity conscious rather than identity centered framework that addresses the complexity of students assets and needs as they encounter the unfamiliar terrain of college In the current landscape of higher education colleges and universities normally divide their efforts between departments and programs that explicitly work on developing students identities and separate departments or programs that work on retaining and graduating higher risk students This book contends that the gap between cultural diversity centers and institutional retention efforts is both a missed opportunity and one that perpetuates the opportunity gap between students of color and low income students and their peers Identity consciousness the central framework of this book differs from an identity centric approach where the identity itself is the focus of the intervention For example a Latino men s program can be developed as an identity centered initiative if the outcomes of the program are all tied to a deeper or more complex understanding of one s Latino ness and or masculinity Alternately this same program can be an identity conscious student success program if it is designed from the ground up with the students racial and gender identities in mind but the intended outcomes are tied to student success such as term to term credit completion yearly persistence engagement in high impact practices or timely graduation Following the introductory chapter focused on framing how we understand risk and success in the academy the remaining chapters present programmatic interventions that have been tested and found effective for students of color working class college students and first generation students Each chapter opens with a student story to frame the problem outlines the key research that informs the program and offers sufficient descriptive information for staff or faculty considering implementing a similar identity conscious intervention on their campus The chapters conclude with a discussion of assessment and suggested Action Items as starting points
