

INTERCOMPANY PROFIT TRANSACTIONS — PLANT ASSETS

Answers to Questions

- 1 The objective of eliminating the effects of intercompany sales of plant assets is to reflect plant assets and related depreciation amounts in the consolidated financial statements at cost to the consolidated entity.
- 2 Consolidation procedures for eliminating unrealized profit on plant assets are affected by the direction of the sale. The full amount of unrealized profit or loss on downstream sales (parent to subsidiary) is charged or credited to the controlling interest. In the case of upstream sales, however, unrealized profit or loss is allocated between controlling and noncontrolling interests. Because there is no allocation to noncontrolling interests in the case of a 100 percent owned subsidiary, consolidation procedures are the same for upstream sales as for downstream sales.
- 3 Unrealized gains and losses from intercompany sales of land are realized from the viewpoint of the selling affiliate when the purchasing affiliate resells the land to parties outside the consolidated entity. This is also the point at which the consolidated entity recognizes gain or loss on the difference between the selling price to outside parties and the cost to the purchasing affiliate.
- 4 Noncontrolling interest share is not affected by downstream sales of land because the realized income of the subsidiary is not affected by downstream sales. In the case of upstream sales of land, the reported income of the subsidiary is adjusted downward for unrealized profits and upward for unrealized losses to determine realized income. Since noncontrolling interest share is computed on the basis of realized subsidiary income, the computation of noncontrolling interest share is affected by upstream sales of land.
- 5 Consolidation procedures are designed to eliminate 100 percent of all unrealized profit or loss on all intercompany transactions. The issue is not whether 100 percent of the unrealized profit or loss is eliminated, but if the amount eliminated is allocated between controlling and noncontrolling interests. In the case of an upstream sale of land, 100 percent of the unrealized profit from the sale is eliminated, but the amount is allocated between controlling and noncontrolling interests in relation to their ownership holdings.
- 6 Unrealized gains and losses from intercompany sales of depreciable assets are realized through use if the assets are held within the consolidated entity and through sale if the assets are sold to outside parties. The process of recognizing previously unrealized gains and losses through use is a piecemeal recognition over the remaining useful life of the depreciable asset.
- 7 The computation of noncontrolling interest share in the year of an upstream sale of depreciable plant asset is as follows:

	Unrealized Gain on Sale XXX	Unrealized Loss on Sale XXX
Income of subsidiary as reported
Deduct: Gain on sale of plant assets	- XXX
Add: Loss on sale of plant assets		+XXX
Add: Piecemeal recognition of gain on sale of plant assets	+ X
Deduct: Piecemeal recognition of loss on sale of plant assets		- X
Realized subsidiary income	XXX	XXX
Noncontrolling interest percentage	X%	X%
Noncontrolling interest share	XXX	XXX
