

FLOAT LEVEL: To set correctly for proper maintenance of fuel level, remove Upper Body Assembly containing complete float mechanism. Turn upside down and with float lever resting on the Inlet Needle carefully bend each lever arm, if necessary, to give a distance of one and five sixty-fourths inches from face of body gasket to the top of raised area encircling each float. This measurement must be maintained with both floats to obtain proper performance. DO NOT CHANGE FLOAT LEVEL FROM MANUFACTURERS SPECIFICATIONS.

ADJUSTMENT INSTRUCTIONS

Before starting engine check for proper fuel supply in tank. Open Fuel Line Shut Off Valve and be certain air valve on Fuel Tank Cap is open.

Separate manual carburetor adjustments are provided. Main Adjustment Screw (23) controlling power range mixture; Idle Adjustment Screw (18) governing idle mixture at closed throttle and Idle Speed Regulating Screw (16) controlling required idling speed.

INITIAL ADJUSTMENT: Completely close Idle Adjustment Screw (18) by turning in (clockwise) until seated (without forcing) then turn back in opposite direction one full turn. Proceed in like manner with Main Adjustment Screw (23) except open two full turns after first being closed. Now choke and start engine in usual manner and run until thoroughly warm.

POWER RANGE ADJUSTMENT: With engine running at a constant speed of approximately two-thirds (2/3rds) open throttle position, slowly turn Main Adjustment Screw (23) inward (clockwise) until motor begins to lose speed, then slowly turn back in opposite direction (usually 1/8th to 1/4th of a turn) until maximum speed and power is obtained. Final setting should be approximately one and one-half turns open.

IDLE MIXTURE ADJUSTMENT: This adjustment should only be made AFTER the above mentioned power range adjustment has been completed. Close throttle and allow engine to idle at slightly faster than normal speed requirements by turning Idle Speed Regulating Screw (16), located on throttle lever, inward. Next, slowly turn Idle Adjustment Screw (18) inward (clockwise) until motor begins to lose speed and miss or flutter, then turn back in opposite direction (usually about 1/8th of a turn) until engine functions smoothly and steadily. Now slowly back out Idle Speed Regulating Screw (16) until desired idling speed is obtained. Final Idle Adjustment Screw (18) setting should be approximately three-fourths (3/4ths) of a turn open.

FINAL ADJUSTMENT: Alternately open and close throttle a few times for adjustment test. If acceleration hesitancy or stalling at idle speed occurs, entire adjustment procedure, outlined above, should be repeated. Preceding instructions cover Cold Motor start only. Warm Motor only requires opening of throttle and engagement of starter without further carburetor adjustment. Regardless of altitude or climatic conditions a proper carburetor adjustment can be made by following the above rules - which eliminates jet changes.
