Some Like It Scot Pepper Basham, 2025-04-08 An American travel writer who has never found a place to belong and a reclusive Scot with a surprising secret find a shocking connection when she enters a Highlands manor house that has been turned into a three week long Edwardian experience Katie Campbell has traveled her entire life As the daughter of an army chaplain changing homes or even countries was commonplace so when her wild childhood storytelling turned into a lucrative career as a travel writer she thought she'd found her perfect match. But as she's nearly thirty with no real place to settle down, she's starting to wonder where home actually is. Her own family hadn't felt like home since her sister's death left them all limping through life. When a lengthy project in Scotland promises to not only give her travel fodder for months but also a shot at a coveted editing position, she accepts and is sent to spend three weeks in the newly created Craighill House, a Scottish home redesigned to offer guests an Edwardian experience. But her entrance to Craighill introduces her to a quirky group of characters and a surly Scot who is helping refurbish the magnificent woodwork of the estate house. As Katie attempts to live Edwardian, she learns that all that glitters does not make a comfortable lifestyle, and surly Scots may turn out to be dashing and creative uncles raising their orphaned nephews. When a few escapades from the Downton era lead Katie on hunts for mermaids and dragons or to a fireside chat with a family who has grown stronger through tragedy, Katie begins to wonder if home looks a whole lot like rolling green hills, magnificent braighs, and a few extra eyes thrown in for good measure. But can her world-traveling lifestyle fit in with a Scot whose heart is double-knotted to home?

Some Like It Scot Pepper Basham, 2025-11-26 An Award-Winning Author Travel writer and podcaster Katie Campbell has built a career as Miss Adventure. Graeme MacKerrow's comfort zone has always been family, and after his sister's death, he's even more determined to keep those he loves close. The sudden intrusion of a six-foot-one American lass was far from his plan. How could their very different worlds share the same page of life's story when home is in two different places? But maybe home and the future isn't what either one imagined it would be. Maybe home is less about a place and more about a person.

Runaway bride Abby Potter left her life behind, her fiancé, her job, and her country for a new start in picturesque Whussendale as the village's wedding planner. But when she steps foot in Scotland, she immediately runs into trouble that could wreck her chances of making a go of it in the land of kilts and the men who wear them. Conor Masterson, betrayed by his runaway wife who left him for his best mate, has retreated to Whussendale to forget his marriage and to pick up where he left off at being the weaver he was in his youth. Fate and the laird's meddling have Conor roped into being Abby's assistant, and her guy in a kilt at the bridal shows. But the last thing Conor needs is to fall for another woman who runs away. But he can't get Abby out of his mind. Conor sees that Abby needs him to get her wedding planner business off the ground. Abby knows that mixing business with her crush on Conor could be disastrous. They both are at an impasse. Conor must either help Abby or go against the laird's wishes. And Abby must decide whether to risk her new life for love or run away once more.
