Self Replicating Machine Fouad Sabry, 2023-07-02 What Is Self Replicating Machine A self replicating machine is a sort of autonomous robot that is capable of reproducing itself autonomously utilizing raw materials available in the environment As a result a self replicating machine demonstrates self replication in a manner that is akin to that which may be found in nature The idea of self replicating machines has been developed and investigated by Homer Jacobson Edward F Moore Freeman Dyson John von Neumann and Konrad Zuse as well as more recently by K Eric Drexler in his book on nanotechnology titled Engines of Creation as well as by Robert Freitas and Ralph Merkle in their review Kinematic Self Replicating Machines which provided the first comprehensive analysis of the entire replicator design space The future development of such technology is an essential component of a number of schemes involving the extraction of ore and other resources from moons and asteroid belts the establishment of manufacturing facilities on the moon and even the building of solar power satellites in space These plans are all reliant on the future progress of this technology The von Neumann probe is a conceptual illustration of one hypothetical example of such a machine In addition to this Von Neumann worked on a project that he referred to as the universal constructor This was a self replicating machine that would be capable of evolving and it was an environment that was codified using cellular automata Notably Von Neumann's Self Reproducing Automata scheme proposed that in order for open ended evolution to occur inherited information must be copied and passed on to offspring in a manner that is distinct from the self replicating machine This realization came before Watson and Crick's discovery of the structure of the DNA molecule and how it is independently translated and replicated in the cell
