Somerset Maugham, 2015-01-27 The Moon and Sixpence By W Somerset Maugham The Moon and Sixpence is a novel by W Somerset Maugham told in episodic form by a first person narrator in a series of glimpses into the mind and soul of the central character Charles Strickland a middle aged English stockbroker who abandons his wife and children abruptly to pursue his desire to become an artist The story is said to be loosely based on the life of the painter Paul Gauguin The novel is written largely from the point of view of the narrator who is first introduced to Strickland through the latter's wife Strickland strikes him the narrator as unremarkable. Certain chapters entirely comprise stories or narrations of others which the narrator recalls from memory selectively editing or elaborating on certain aspects of dialogue particularly Strickland's as Strickland is said by the narrator to be limited in his use of verbiage and tended to use gestures in his expression. Strickland is a well-off middle class stockbroker in London sometime in late 19th or early 20th century. Early in the novel he leaves his wife and children and goes to Paris. He lives a destitute but defiantly content life there as an artist specifically a painter lodging in run-down hotels and falling prey to both illness and hunger. Strickland in his drive to express through his art what appears to continually possess and compel him on the inside cares nothing for physical discomfort and is indifferent to his surroundings. He is generously supported while in Paris by a commercially successful but hackneyed Dutch painter Dirk Stroeve, a friend of the narrator's who immediately recognises Strickland's genius. After helping Strickland recover from a life-threatening condition, Stroeve is repaid by having his wife Blanche abandon him for Strickland. Strickland later discards the wife; all he really sought from Blanche was a model to paint, not serious companionship, and it is hinted in the novel's dialogue that he indicated this to her and she took the risk anyway. Blanche then commits suicide, yet another human casualty in Strickland's single-minded pursuit of art and beauty, the first ones being his own established life and those of his wife and children.
